Cleric killed, Haryana violence toll rises to 5

Arson attack on mosque in Gurugram past midnight; 70 detained

UJWAL JALALI AND HARPREET BAJWA @New Delhi/Chandigarh

FIVE persons were killed and over 50 others injured in Haryana, including a cleric and a couple of policemen, after communal clashes in Nuh and Gurugram that began on Monday. In Gurugram, a mosque was set on fire and its cleric murdered by a mob past midnight.

Five persons have been arrested for their alleged involvement in the arson attack on the Anjuman Jama mosque in Sector 57 of Gurugram. The dead cleric was identified as Maulana Saad (26).

Sources in the Gurugram Police said the mob reached the mosque past midnight, opened fire on its inmates and set it ablaze. The cleric succumbed to his injuries after being admitted to a local hospital.

Apart from Sector 57, there were reports of sporadic violence at various locations in Gurugram throughout the day. In the afternoon, a mob set an eatery on fire and vandalised adjoining shops in Badshahpur. Reports said the mob specifically targeted shops of a particular community, ransacked them and chanted religious slogans.

There were also reports of some shanties being set on fire on Kadarpur road, but there was no official confirmation. In Sector 66, several eateries and scrap shops were either ransacked or set on fire. Besides, some meat shops were vandalised near Pataudi Chowk.

The overall situation in Gurugram remained tense.

Earlier in the day, peace committee meetings were held in Nuh and Gurugram's Sohna town where senior members of both the communities were asked to help identify the accused and restore social harmony. In all, about 70 people have been detained and 44 cases registered so far. As many as 125 private vehicles, eight police vehicles and three emergency vehicles were set afire during the clashes.

The VHP decided to hold protests across India on Wednesday and demanded a probe by the National Investigation Agency (NIA) into the attacks.

Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar claimed the attack appeared to be part of a larger conspiracy, as the VHP's Samajik Yatra in Nuh had been taking place annually for the past several years without trouble.

Police force beefed up to maintain peace

Sixteen companies of the Central Police Force have been stationed in Nuh and its surrounding areas. In addition, 30 companies of the Haryana Police have been deployed. Additional police forces have been called from neighbouring districts as well to maintain peace in the region, said Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar

UDUPI VOYEURISM

Siddu rejects BJP demand for SIT probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday rejected BJP's demand for a SIT inquiry into Udupi's voyeurism case. "There is no question of handing over the case to SIT," he told reporters here.

He said police have registered a suo motu case and a DySP rank officer is investigating it. To a query, he said NCW member Khushbu Sundar had stated that there was no hidden camera in the college washroom. "Let the inquiry continue and once the report is out, action will be taken," he added.

Siddaramaiah denied that the government had taken the case lightly and said if it was so, a case would not have been registered.

With regard to moral policing in DK, he said such things will not be tolerated. "We have directed the police to take strong actions against those indulging in moral policing. Things will fall in line soon," he said. On Sowjanya murder case, he indicated that the state may appeal before the high court against the CBI court order. The government will take stern action against people spreading fake messages on social media.

On implementation of Kasturirangan report, he said, "It is for the Centre to take a decision. We are committed to protecting the environment."

SC summons Manipur DGP

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered the Manipur DGP to be present in the courtroom on August 7 at 2 pm, after its scathing observation that there was absolute breakdown of law and order in the state for two months from May to July.

Examining the preliminary data on FIRs, Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud said the state police is incapable of investigating and has lost control of the situation. He found the probe tardy and the police force too lethargic. There was considerable lapse of time between occurrence of the strip-parade of two women on May 4 and the registration of the FIR, asked if the DGP cared to find out whether those police personnel were interrogated.

The state government in its report said 6,523 FIRs had been registered from May 3 to July 30, out of which 11 pertained to offences against women and children. So far, 252 people have been arrested in the 11 cases.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said the Centre was willing to refer the 11 FIRs to the CBI.

Considering the formation of a committee on the rehabilitation and supervision of the probes, the bench asked the state to suggest the name of the person to whom the investigation could be entrusted since it was impractical to transfer all FIRs to the CBI.

CA aspirant gangraped in city, 3 held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Kodigehalli police have arrested three men, including a dance teacher, on charges of gang-raping a woman for over a year by blackmailing her that they would post videos of their private moments on social media. Andy George (27) is the prime accused, while his friends Santhosh and Shashi, both aged around 30, are the other accused. They are residents of Kodigehalli and Vidyaranyapura.

The police said the 25-year-old survivor, who is preparing for the chartered accountant exam, had come in contact with Andy George on a social media platform three years ago. They fell in love and also had a physical relationship. George had allegedly video-recorded their private moments. But around one-and-a-half years ago, the victim broke up with George after he started extorting money from her using the videos.

"Later, he started seeking sexual favours from her by threatening to upload their videos on social media. The scared victim consented to his demands. Taking advantage, George also forced her to sleep with his friends Santhosh and Shashi. They too recorded their acts and sexually assaulted her on multiple occasions since June 2022," the police said.

Recently, the woman decided not to fall prey to their demands anymore. George, who was irked by her refusal, uploaded the videos on social media. On July 19, she filed a complaint with the Kodigehalli police. On the same day, the three accused were arrested. The police seized the mobile phones and a laptop from the accused.

DCP (North-East) Laxmi Prasad said the accused have been booked for gangrape, extortion and under provisions of the Information Technology Act.

K'taka to have new energy policy soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO reduce transmission and distribution losses and decentralise power generation and distribution, the Energy Department is working on a new energy policy where renewable energy, preferably solar, will be generated near substations and added to the grid for distribution locally.

Energy Minister KJ George said on Tuesday that officials of the department, including engineers, have been given the task of preparing the policy. The aim of the new policy is to help consumers reduce their financial burden. All sources of green energy - solar, wind and hydrogen - will be tapped.

"We are trying to reduce the cost of power generation and distribution. We have told industries and other big consumers to install solar panels on their premises to generate power and supply surplus energy to the power grid. The policy will be sent to the cabinet for approval at the earliest," he said.

George said as suggested by Dy CM DK Shivakumar, solar power generation at Pavagada near Tumakuru can be increased by 10,000 MW. Talks with farmers on leasing their land for the project are on. Land around substations for setting up green energy units will also be taken on lease, he added.

On the new policy, Additional Chief Secretary (Energy) Gaurav Gupta told TNIE that there are around 500 substations where green energy could be generated. Land has to be identified for setting up solar panels. Engineers of the department will study various models available in the market. Pilot locations will be identified to take up this project. The aim is to reduce the pressure on the grids and localise power generation, he added.

An official said compared to various sources of renewable energy, the most suitable is solar. A minimum of 20MW of power can be generated. On the waste to energy plant at Bidadi, George said it will be ready by September.

Gruha Jyothi: No power bills for 1.42cr consumers

Bengaluru: The zero bill for energy consumed under the Gruha Jyothi scheme kicked in on Tuesday. Energy Minister KJ George said that 1.42 crore consumers will not pay power bills henceforth. Uproar in LS as govt tables Delhi NCT Bill

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AMID massive uproar by the Opposition, the Centre on Tuesday tabled the Government of National Capital Territory of Delhi (Amendment) Bill in the Lok Sabha. The controversial bill seeks to replace an ordinance to retain the Lieutenant-Governor's control over bureaucrats in Delhi.

While the opposition MPs termed the bill unconstitutional, Home Minister Amit Shah said their objections are political. "The Constitution allows the House to pass any law regarding Delhi. The Supreme Court also said Parliament can bring law on Delhi," he said.

The Centre promulgated the ordinance on May 19, a week after the Supreme Court handed over the control of services to the city government except for issues linked to land, police, and public order. The Delhi government challenged the ordinance in the SC, which referred it to a larger bench.

Opposing the Bill, leader of Congress in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said it overrides the SC ruling and it is an infringement on the powers of the Delhi government.

However, in a major boost for the government, the bill received support from Biju Janata Dal MP Pinaki Mishra. "You can vote against the bill. But on a point of law, you cannot challenge this. How can you challenge the legislative competence?" he said. With BJD's support, the government is likely to see a smooth passage of the Bill in Rajya Sabha, too.

Drunk driver bashes up pregnant woman

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 32-year-old pregnant woman, who works as a staff nurse at a first aid centre of a tech park, was brutally attacked by a carborne drunk unidentified man after she turned down his sexual advances at Konappana Agrahara in the city on Saturday.

In a swift action, the police managed to arrest the accused, who has been remanded in judicial custody.

The victim was returning home when the accused offered to drop her in his car. When she declined, he offered her Rs 1 lakh to spend some time with him. She kept walking and warned the accused not to trouble her.

The accused followed her for a while and tried to molest her. Enraged by this, the victim slapped him. In retaliation, the accused punched her face several times and fled. The victim sought help from her colleague who took her to a private hospital off Hosur Road.

As it was a medico legal case, the hospital staff alerted the police.

The victim, a resident of Adugodi, is in her sixth month of pregnancy. The incident happened between 7.40 pm and 8 pm when she was returning home from her office at Velankani Circle in Electronics City.

"The victim has been discharged from hospital. CCTV cameras helped us identify the accused. He is a driver and was drunk when he assaulted the woman," said a police officer.

A case of sexual harassment (IPC 354A), stalking (IPC 354D), assault or criminal force to woman with intent to outrage her modesty (IPC 354) and causing hurt (IPC 323) has been registered against the accused.

A PERFECT SLINGSHOT

Chandrayaan 3 now headed towards Moon

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

ISRO scientists performed the Trans Lunar Injection (TLI) by firing Chandrayaan 3 spacecraft's onboard thrusters to send it towards the lunar gravity field between 12 am and 1 am on Tuesday.

The spacecraft, which completed its earth orbits, is now on its way to the moon after a perfect slingshot. The spacecraft was launched on July 14 from Sriharikota.

Now the propulsion module will travel in a straight path to reach the moon's lunar path. "As Chandrayaan 3 mission moves into its next phase, the Lunar-Orbit Insertion (LOI) is planned for August 5," ISRO said.

On August 5, the propulsion module's thrusters will be fired again to enter lunar orbit. It will make seven progressively lower orbits around the moon before obtaining a circular orbit of 100 km, in its seventh orbit. It will then release the lander module on August 23 or 24 to attempt a soft-landing. If successful, India will be the first to do so near the lunar south pole.

"A successful perigee-firing performed at ISTRAC (ISRO Telemetry, Tracking and Command Network). ISRO has injected the spacecraft into the translunar orbit. Next stop: the Moon," ISRO tweeted after the successful firing.

UNITE AND SAVE WATER BODIES: HC TO CIVIC AGENCIES

Gives four weeks to come up with action plan to protect lakes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday directed Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), Urban Development department, Revenue department, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board and other stakeholders to come together and prepare an action plan within four weeks to protect water bodies, including storm water drains (SWD) and lakes in the city.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice M G S Kamal passed the order after going through the affidavit filed by BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, who was present before court, on a batch of petitions on the protection of water bodies, including SWD and lakes from encroachment and pollution.

"We further make it clear that the state government may also take immediate steps for issuing notifications for appointment of designated officers under the Karnataka Tank Conservation and Development & Tank Conservation and Development Authority Act or BBMP Act, wherever it's required and it is not done till date," the court said, adjourning any further hearing to September 4.

In order to achieve the purpose of the action plan effectively, the court directed the secretary of the High Court Legal Services Authority to coordinate with all stakeholders.

Activists say sewage let into Chunchaghatta Lake

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

WHILE civic activists allege that sewage is being released into the Chunchaghatta Lake in South Bengaluru, officials from Bangalore Water Supply & Sewerage Board (BWSSB) claim that only treated water is being let into it from a nearby residential area.

The 18-acre lake located upstream of Sarakki Lake at JP Nagar was rejuvenated a few years ago by BBMP at a cost of Rs 2.7 crore.

According to a circular by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) issued on March 18, the coliform level in the lake stood at 24,000 MPN (Most Probable Number) per 100 ml. This test is conducted to study the quality of water and the level of bacteria in it. Coliform bacteria come from faeces, soil, vegetation and animal carcasses.

Lake conservationist Raghavendra B Pachhapur said many poor people live in the lake area and they let water after washing clothes and utensils into the inlets, which enters the water body. The inlets should be checked, safeguarded and the entry of sewage should be stopped. "The BWSSB has taken water samples and we will have to wait for its report," he added.

Vinayak Datta Naik, Assistant Executive Engineer, Sub-Division 1, BWSSB South Division, said, "Only treated water enters the lake. The samples taken showed that coliform bacteria are not entering the lake. We will have more information on the quality of water soon."

The department has checked for Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) and they are dry, he added.

Along with coliform, the lake's biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) stood at 11mg/l. However, according to experts, it should be between 2 and 3mg only. BOD represents the amount of oxygen consumed by bacteria and other microorganisms while they decompose organic matter in water, which reflects that sewage is entering the lake. Currently, the lake is under BBMP and has been listed under D category and deemed fit for propagation of wildlife and fisheries.

E-way ban: 137 booked, ₹68k fines collected

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ON DAY one of the ban on two wheelers, three wheelers and agricultural vehicles on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway, police booked 137 cases and collected Rs 68,500 in fines from violators.

Police and National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) personnel also manned entry points of the highway and directed restricted vehicles onto the service road. Boards were put up about the ban at the entry points and toll gates on the e-way that was officially inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on March 12.

NHAI had put out a gazette notification, dated July 12, stating that six types of vehicles -- motorcycles, including scooters and other two-wheelers, three-wheelers, including e-carts and e-rickhaws, non-motorised vehicles, tractors with or without trailers, multi-axle hydraulic trailer vehicles and quadricycles will be barred from the expressway from August 1.

Police personnel man an entry point to stop restricted vehicles from entering the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway on Tuesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Unaware about the restriction, many two-wheeler riders tried to enter the e-way that starts on the outskirts of city after the NICE Road Junction near the Panchamukhi Ganesha temple. They were stopped by the police and NHAI personnel and asked to take the service road.

"As the ban comes into force from Tuesday, many restricted vehicle users, especially two-wheeler riders, were not aware of it. We informed them about the ban and diverted them from the main carriage," said an NHAI personnel.

Two-wheelers riders and drivers of goods autos vented their ire over the restriction and questioned the police how will the ban curb the number of accidents on the e-way.

"They are asking two wheelers and other vehicles to use the service road. But where is the service road? The e-way has elevated sections over railway tracks at places like Channapatna. They should have given an uninterrupted service road running parallel to the main carriage of the e-way," said Prakash, a biker who commutes regularly on the route.

The police said fine of Rs 500 is being imposed on restricted vehicles that enter the e-way.

FLORAL COMPETITIONS, DISPLAYS AT LALBAGH SHOW FROM AUG 4

Horticulture department workers prepare the glass house ahead of the flower show at Lalbagh in Bengaluru on Tuesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE 214th Lalbagh Flower Show, which will pay tribute to former chief minister Kengal Hanumanthaiah, will be held from August 4 to 15.

Flower arrangements portraying the life of Hanumanthaiah, who built Vidhana Soudha, his contribution towards freedom struggle, his association with Dr BR Ambedkar in drafting the constitution as member of Indian Constituent Assembly and his role in the unification of Karnataka will be on display, Horticulture Minister S S Mallikarjun told reporters on Tuesday.

"Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will inaugurate the show on Friday. Deputy CM DK Shivakumar and other dignitaries will be present. The event will feature competitions on Ikebana, vegetable carving and bonsai. This apart, there will be ten flower pyramids inside Lal Bagh apart from Vidhana Soudha and Shivapura Satyagraha Soudha," he said.

As many as 815 exhibitors will take part in the show and 138 exhibitors will participate in flower art competitions. In the garden competition, 525 exhibitors will take part while 102 will display in the glass house.

Access to the show will be from West Gate, East Gate and South End Circle and parking of vehicles will be at the Shanthi Nagar BMTC bus stand, JC Road BBMP complex and Al Ameen College on Lal Bagh Road. For security, all gates will be fitted with metal detectors and security personnel will scan baggage. For health emergencies, ambulances and paramedical staff will be deployed. This apart, CCTV cameras will be installed.

The show will be from 10 am to 7 pm. Tickets are priced at Rs 70 for adults on weekdays and Rs 80 on weekends. For children under 12 years, it will be Rs 30. The department expects about 10 lakh visitors.

Wasteland in Lalbagh to turn mini W Ghats

ENS @Bengaluru

HORTICULTURE department officials are setting out to convert six acres of wasteland into mini Western Ghats, with 132 species of plants from the Sahyadri region in the Lalbagh Botanical Gardens.

Biodiversity expert Keshav Murthy said over 190 species of saplings were sourced from the Sahyadri region two years ago, of which 132 survived, including a few fruit plants. Over 400 species from the Western Ghats -- Uttara Kannada, Shivamogga, Hassan, Chikkamagaluru, Udupi, Dakshina Kannada, Mysuru and Kodagu districts -- were planted in Lalbagh.

Horticulture Minister SS Mallikarjun symbolically planted a sapling on Tuesday at Lalbagh Rock Garden near Siddapura, along with noted environmentalist Dr Yellappa Reddy, and former adviser on educational reforms, Karnataka government, MR Doreswamy.

In the past two years, horticulture department staffers have been working on soil fertility, and on Tuesday, with help from student volunteers, 400 saplings from the Sahyadri hills were planted. "In the coming days, small ponds will also be created for aquatic life and ground water table improvement which will result in tree growth," Keshav Murthy, who has been helping Lalbagh authorities in this regard, said.

In the coming days, shrubs, herbs and climbers from the Western Ghats will be added, horticulture officials said.

A special trip to Nehru Planetarium

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

JAWAHARLAL Nehru Planetarium, which is one of the chief attractions for children in the city, welcomed some special guests on Tuesday to learn about all things space and the evolution of the world. Around 100 students from the Association of Mentally Challenged (AMC) were for the first time introduced to the concept of solar systems and space.

AMC, which caters to individuals from the weaker economic strata, has been working for the welfare of children with intellectual disability disorder (IDD) for the past 64 years.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, AMC secretary Vanishree Manohar said, "Our students were so thrilled to be at the planetarium today (Tuesday) that we plan on introducing space as part of the curriculum."

She added that specially-abled children are not exposed to science or space thinking in the belief that they won't understand the matter. "We want to establish a strong foundation for our children and help them pursue their hobbies."

K Thiyagarajan of the Bangalore Association of Science Education, who helped organised the visit and free screening of a short film called 'Solar System', said, "We always encourage activities such as these for everyone, be it physically disabled or mentally."

"Inclusivity is important in society. It's crucial that these special children develop social skills by attending such events and workshops. These are small steps taken to encourage talented students and develop acceptance of IDD students around us," said Priya Darshini, project coordinator, AMC.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

02ND August : Some modern astrologers regard today's lunar patterns as an indication of difficulties. I have to say that I don't. In my opinion everything that happens is an opportunity for us to take effective action. When the Sun and Moon meet like this, it's as if their energy is temporarily cancelled out - and then returns after a few minutes.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There is now much to be gained from a trip down memory lane, although it does n't have to be events of long ago which now preoccupy you. What is important is what you find when you get there, probably an emotional crock of gold. An encounter with an old friend is due. It could be today, but it might be tomorrow!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your social stars are strong, so you may as well face the fact that there's little to be gained from going it alone. You'll benefit far more from linking up with like-minded people and forming a little team. There's also a chance that a child or younger relation will come up with a pleasant surprise.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Most planetary activity now takes place in the upper reaches of your solar chart, signifying that public pressures should be more important than personal. In other words, social expectations now exert a crucial impact on your thoughts and emotions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Dream on, especially if romance is on the cards. From the planetary point of view, there could be no better time for adventures with loved ones, so please do whatever you can to keep routine chores to a minimum. There's nothing to be gained from piling up the pressure.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Mercury, Venus and Mars have reduced their combined pressure. That means that while obvious difficulties may have been removed, there are still certain hurdles to overcome, not the least of which is your capacity to doubt yourself. A little extra confidence is needed!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's time to explore your feelings, whether of guilt or resentment, hope or desire. Only by letting your emotions roam and your imagination wander will you get a true picture of what it is that you truly require from partners and loved ones - and what you can give in return.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Please do not imagine that conditions at work have been finally agreed. The curious point is that even though everyone is now acting on what has been decided, certain ideas will soon once again be thrown into the melting pot. In fact, it could all be up for grabs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Don't rule out the possibility of enforced changes in your life, but first realise that you have brought current conditions on yourself, and then that while Venus is so intriguingly aligned, the outlook is excellent for a happy outcome.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You won't get very far unless you realise that family members need to be persuaded that you are right, and that domestic irritations should be dealt with now! You might not be the cause of some current problems, but you can certainly be part of the solution.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Circumstances beyond your control are about to unmake a decision that you thought had been finalised. Look upon all uncertainty as a welcome opportunity for you to change your mind and attitudes. What's more, what seems like a good idea this week might not look so rosy next.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's fair to say that an astrological period of great importance is still with you, but you must accept that major change is unlikely in the near future. Instead you should work with what has already happened, and consolidate all improvements in relationships so far.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Common sense tells you that you should work as fast as possible to present other people with a fait accompli. They will then be able to jiggle about with the details, but without affecting the final outcome. Oh, and if you are dealing with practical matters, call in the experts.

5 arrested for raping minor Dalit girl in DK dist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

DAKSHINA Kannada police have arrested five persons, who are said to be members of Bajrang Dal, on charges of sexually assaulting a 14-year-old minor Dalit girl several times since 2019. Four accused are from Vitla near Mangaluru and another is a resident of Kasargod in Kerala.

According to a complaint filed by the victim's mother with Vitla police, five persons, including a relative, had sexually assaulted her daughter many times since 2019.

The victim was first raped by her relative in 2019 and also in January, May, June and on July 28 this year. Four of the accused sexually assaulted her by taking her to secluded places with a promise of marriage, according to the complaint.

Democratic Youth Federation of India state president Muneer Katipalla alleged that two of the accused are active members of Bajrang Dal. However, Sharan Pumpwell, Mangaluru Bajrang Dal convener, denied the allegation and said no member of his organisation is involved in the case. However, people of the area confirmed that they are associated with some Hindutva groups.

The accused have been arrested under Sections 3,4,5(L), 5(m), 5(n), 6 of the POCSO Act, 2012, and Sections 376(2)(f)(rape on a woman when she is under 12 years of age), 376(2)(n)(Physical relations on promise to marry) of the IPC and Sections 3(1)(w)(i),3 (1) (w) (ii),3 (2)(v), 3(2)(va) of the SC & ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Amendment Act, 2015. Police sources said medical tests confirmed that the minor was sexually assaulted several times.

Man killed by friends in Sarjapur

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 38-year-old man was murdered allegedly by his friends in Sarjapur police station limits on the outskirts of the city on Monday night and the police have arrested two persons in this connection.

The deceased has been identified as Mohammed Guddu Mansoor while the accused are Charan and Narayanappa.

The police said both the victim and the accused were doing odd jobs. On Monday night, the accused duo invited Mansoor to a party and they consumed alcohol on a vacant land after which a fight broke out between them and the accused allegedly murdered Mansoor by smashing his head with a hollow brick. In the morning, Narayanappa brought Mansoor's body on his two-wheeler to the village and the villagers alerted the police.

"Narayanappa was detained for questioning and he confessed to having killed Mansoor along with Charan, who was arrested later. Charan suspected that Mansoor had an illicit affair with his wife," the police added.

4 posing as journalists extort money, arrested

ENS @ Bengaluru

FOUR persons who allegedly extorted people claiming that they worked for a Kannada news channel have been arrested by the CCB sleuths.

The accused are Atmananda alias Krishnegowda, Anand, Srinivas and Keshavamurthy. The police said the accused were running a YouTube channel named AK News Kannada and extorted people by threatening them that they will run stories against them and ask the police to investigate them.

"Similarly, they had threatened a meat stall owner and extorted money from him and they also demanded that he should pay them a fixed amount every month. The owner had approached the KR Puram police and filed a complaint, which was transferred to the CCB," the police said, adding that a car and Rs 13,000 in cash were seized.

HC quashes proceedings against IPS Ajay Hilori

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IMA SCAM

THE Karnataka High Court quashed criminal proceedings initiated against IPS officer Ajay Hilori by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in relation to the IMA ponzi scam, as he was exonerated in the departmental inquiry.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order after allowing the petition filed by Ajay Hilori. He challenged the sanction accorded by the state government to prosecute him for offences under provisions of the IPC, and Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act.

He further sought quashing of the supplementary chargesheet naming him accused No. 26, and the order passed by the special court on November 5, 2020, taking cognisance of the charges.

The court said the witnesses who were examined in the departmental inquiry are the same who are sought to be examined as witnesses in the criminal trial, including the Investigating Officer (IO).

The role of the petitioner was thoroughly scrutinised on the basis of evidence by the Inquiry Officer in his report, which holds that the petitioner was only negligent, and forwarded the report without looking into it. All other allegations, including demand and acceptance of bribes, are in favour of the petitioner as the IO himself refused to support the allegations against the petitioner, the court noted.

The court said the petitioner was issued a warning, which was not even a penalty, while exonerating him in the departmental inquiry. Therefore, it borders on exoneration, as proceedings against him are closed.

If there are no offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act or under Sections 406 and 420 IPC as is alleged, the conviction of the petitioner is absolutely bleak... he cannot be made to undergo the rigmarole of trial and the sword of pendency of a criminal case hanging on his head, the High Court further observed.

Congress state netas to meet brass today; LS polls, 'dissent' on menu

37 leaders summoned to New Delhi; Minister Boseraju not invited

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS leaders from Karnataka, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar, will meet the party high command in New Delhi on Wednesday (August 2). Though the main agenda of the meeting is to chalk out an action plan for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, other issues plaguing the two-month-old Siddaramaiah government are also likely to be discussed, sources said.

The meeting assumes significance as it comes in the backdrop of a few legislators writing to the CM over lack of funds for their constituencies and working style of ministers. Also, remarks regarding the CM's post by senior Congress leader and MLC BK Hariprasad had caused much embarrassment to the government.

AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and former MP Rahul Gandhi will hold a meeting with 37 top leaders, including Siddaramaiah, Shivakumar, 19 'key' senior ministers, and AICC functionaries between 3 pm and 5.30 pm where the strategy for the 2024 LS polls will be discussed. This will be followed by a separate meeting with Siddaramaiah and his cabinet colleagues, sources added.

"The meeting has been called to discuss the Lok Sabha elections, party interests, election strategy, and sharing of responsibilities. Not only the ministers, but also the MLAs, MPs and senior leaders of the party have been invited to the meeting that will be held in three parts," a senior party leader said.

> Not only ministers, legislators, 8-10 non-MLA senior leaders have been called for the meet. MPs have been invited. About 50 people.. will meet party leadership in three divisions
> DK Shivakumar, DyCM & KPCC chief

Also, the issue of MLAs not being consulted on several issues such as transfer of officials will be discussed, the source added.

Hariprasad in, Boseraju out?

MLC BK Hariprasad, who is reportedly miffed after he was not made a minister, is among the 37 top leaders invited for the meeting. "He is expected to raise several issues, including alleged corruption, against the government," the source added.

Interestingly, Minor Irrigation Minister NS Boseraju, the floor leader in the Legislative Council, has been left out of this meeting.

The senior leaders who will be attending the meeting are ministers Dr G Parameshwara, MB Patil, Satish Jarkiholi, Ramalinga Reddy, Eshwar Khandre, HK Patil, KH Muniyappa, Dinesh Gundu Rao, KJ George, Priyank Kharge and Krishna Byre Gowda. KPCC working presidents Saleem Ahmed and Chandrappa, former union minister Veerappa Moily, AICC communication head Jairam Ramesh, former CM Jagdish Shettar, former DyCM Laxman Savadi, former ministers RV Deshpande, Vinay Kulkarni and Ramesh Kumar, MP DK Suresh, and Rajya Sabha members Dr Naseer Hussain, GC Chandrashekhar and Dr L Hanumanthiah will also be at the meeting.

Siddaramaiah is also likely to get the nod from the high command to fill the three vacant MLC posts by nominating former minister MR Seetharam, Mansur Ali Khan and Sudham Das to the Upper House.

CM to meet PM tomorrow, will discuss projects

ENS @ Bengaluru

CM Siddaramaiah is scheduled to call on PM Narendra Modi in New Delhi at 11 am on Thursday and hold talks on various issues related to the state's development. During his first one-on-one meeting with the PM after becoming chief minister, Siddaramaiah is likely to seek the cooperation and assistance of the Centre.

It is to be seen whether Siddaramaiah will raise the issue of the sale of rice by Food Corporation of India to the state for its Anna Bhagya free rice scheme. The ministry of consumer affairs has discontinued the sale of wheat and rice to states under Open Market Sale Scheme-Domestic. As the order affected the distribution of 10 kg of free rice to per beneficiary holding BPL, APL and Antyodaya Anna Yojna cards, the state government has been distributing cash against 5 kg of rice. When Siddaramaiah visited New Delhi last time, Modi was in the U.S. and he called on Union Home Minister Amit Shah.

Siddaramaiah will also meet Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman. He will also call on Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and Surface Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari and discuss projects concerning the state.

ACTION PLAN TO CURB SEA EROSION SOON, SAYS SIDDU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Udupi

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah visited the coastal areas affected by sea erosion in Udupi on Tuesday.

Speaking to reporters after visiting Padubidri, the chief minister said an action plan will be prepared by the department concerned to find a permanent solution to curb sea erosion. Paudbidri suffered damage owing to sea erosion in the recent rain.

"Budget requirements to find a solution to this problem are being discussed with the officials concerned and funds will be allocated," he said. Siddaramaiah said that in a few places, works have been taken up to curb sea erosion, while in a few other places, works will be taken up soon.

On implementation of the Kantharaju Commission's socio-economic survey (caste census) report, the CM said that the report should have been submitted when HD Kumaraswamy was the CM. There were technical issues but once the report is submitted, proper action will be taken, he said.

He said the estimated loss owing to the recent rain in Udupi district was pegged at Rs 35 crore.

On BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel calling the State Government a 'Jihadi' and 'Tughlak Sarkar', the CM said that he would not give much importance to the former's remarks.

Ravi in Delhi, calls on BJP national leaders

ENS @ Bengaluru

BJP leader CT Ravi, who is in New Delhi to meet party central leaders, on Tuesday said he has not sought any post. "I sought the Chikkamagaluru youth BJP president post in 1991, but was made the district party president. In 1994, I sought the party ticket to contest the Assembly polls. Except for those two occasions, I have never sought any posts. Let us see how things pan out," he told TNIE over phone when asked about his being the frontrunner for the BJP state president's post.

On his visit to Delhi, he said he was there to thank party functionaries who had extended their cooperation to him. He met several leaders, including Union Minister of State for Fisheries Loganathan Murugan from Tamil Nadu. Ravi is vacating the residence in New Delhi that had been given to him when he was the party national general secretary. When he was dropped as national general secretary, Ravi was in Tamil Nadu in the company of Union Home Minister Amit Shah. Sources said he is backed by BJP National General Secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh for the state party president's post.

Mahadevappa says govt not diverting SCSP, TSP funds

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the state government's alleged decision to divert funds from the Scheduled Caste Sub Plan (SCSP) and the Tribal Sub Plan (TSP) to implement the guarantee schemes is turning into a political issue, Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa on Tuesday said there is no diversion of funds and it will be used for the intended purpose.

He said the funds under SCSP/TSP are allocated to 40 different departments, including the five departments that are implementing the government's guarantee schemes. The government on Monday approved a Rs 34,293.69 crore action plan for SCSP/TSP for 2023-24.

BJP leaders warned of a statewide protest against the diversion of funds.

Senior BJP leader Govind Karjol said the work on 156 residential schools and 75 hostels for SC/ST students has stopped for the last three months. The government has not released funds to 108 residential schools, for which the BJP government had given 10 acres each, he said.

BJP State General Secretary and MLC N Ravi Kumar slammed the state government for not being able to supply KMF ghee to Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams for laddus. The state had sold 13 lakh kg of ghee to TTD in 2022, but the Congress government has failed to do so, he added.

Big compliance in e-invoicing by cos with ₹5cr biz

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA celebrated the GST collection of Rs 11,505 crore which is the second highest in the country. The bigger applause should, however, be reserved for the massive compliance in e-invoicing for those companies with an annual aggregate turnover of Rs 5 crore from Tuesday. With this, the firms that are GST registered can upload all their business-to-business invoices to the invoice registration portal.

Official sources said, "The Invoice Registration Portal generates and returns a unique invoice reference number, digitally signed e-invoice and a QR code to the user."

Sources at the National Informatics Centre (NIC) said, "Statistics reveal that 1.11 crore e-invoices were generated on July 31 which is the highest for any day in the last 34 months. The monthly e-invoices generated for July were 18.45 crore which is a record."

Commercial Tax Commissioner C Shikha said, "E-invoicing which was only for a slab of Rs 500 crore has been gradually brought down in stages over the past three years to Rs 5 crore. This will ensure greater revenue collection because the number of payers approximately doubled because the tax net net spread wider. An e-invoice facilitates better compliance naturally."

> E-invoicing which was only for a slab of Rs 500 crore has been gradually brought down in stages over the past three years to Rs 5 crore. This will ensure greater revenue collection because the number of payers approximately doubled because the tax net net spread wider
> C Shikha, Commercial Tax Commissioner

On the state's share of GST, she said it is Rs 5627 crore for June and Rs 4,721 crore for July which is encouraging.

FKCCI GST Committee Chairman BT Manohar said, "E-invoice is important as it is generated on a government portal. It means the transaction is genuine and also means there is revenue generated to the government. It cannot be fake. This will ensure there is no evasion or leakage of revenue. In the days to come, this will obviously result in more revenue collection."

In a related matter, Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, who represents Karnataka in the GST Council, raised the issue of betting in online gaming where people put in large amounts of money. He said, "We will seek to bring betting on online gaming under GST compliance and it has been discussed in the GST Council. The GST council meeting will be held on Wednesday through video-conferencing and effective measures to levy taxes will be discussed. We plan to discuss the nuances of taxing online betting games. Not all online games, but only that involve betting will come under its ambit. Many families have complained that they have suffered heavy losses because of certain members of the family indulging in betting on online games."

Gruha Jyothi kicks in, 1.42 crore consumers to get zero power bill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE zero bill for energy consumed under the Gruha Jyothi scheme kicked in on August 1. Energy Minister KJ George on Tuesday said that 1.42 crore consumers are eligible for the scheme and will not pay power bills. In many districts, including Bengaluru, officials from various energy supply corporations (Escoms) handed over zero bills to consumers on Tuesday.

George told the media the department had identified 2.16 crore consumers. After detailed scrutiny, 1.42 crore consumers were found to be eligible for the scheme. The minister said the billing cycle for the scheme starts on August 1, but for many, the cycle ranges from the 5th to the 16th of the month. But if they are eligible for zero bill under the scheme, the respective Escoms will reimburse the difference amount, along with bank interest.

George added that though the scheme came into effect on July 1, and the billing cycle reflects from August 1, it will be formally inaugurated by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Opposition Leader in the Rajya Sabha and AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge, and IT-BT and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Priyank Kharge in Kalaburagi. "The government wants to unveil the five guarantee schemes in different districts. Since the Shakti scheme was launched in Bengaluru, this one will be done in Kalaburagi," George said.

On why registration was low compared to the number of consumers, George said: "Many have not registered for the scheme, saying they don't want it. Some were rejected because they have more than one RR number. Many others are yet to apply," he said. As per department records, of the 1,41,23,240 consumers who registered for the scheme, 1,23,10,788 consumers registered under Gruha Jyothi scheme directly, while 18,12,452 consumers were those who defaulted under the Kuteera Jyothi, Bhagya Jyothi and Amrutha Jyothi schemes.

George said that consumers who have registered under KJ and BJ will get zero bills if their energy unit consumption is less than 58 units. Also, consumers under AJ schemes will get free power if their unit consumption is less than 83 units. He said consumers falling under these installations will not get the benefit of the Gruha Jyothi scheme.

He said if consumers fail to pay their arrears within three months, their connections will be disconnected. He said that separate guidelines will be issued soon for proper implementation of the scheme. The government will pay the Gruha Jyothi subsidy amount and Fuel Power Purchase Adjustment Charges amounts to all Escoms in advance to implement the scheme.

Mekedatu reservoir survey to be completed in 60 days

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

FOREST officials have completed 2 km of the survey of the land and trees for the Mekedatu balancing reservoir project. The survey could be completed within 60 days if weather permits, said an officer.

They have put wooden pegs every 20 metre to mark the boundary between Karnataka-Tamil Nadu forests. Irrigation officials coordinating with the forest officials want concrete pillars erected as there is a possibility of wooden pegs getting damaged due to rain, wind and floods that could lead to confusion. But the forest officials want the approval of the principal conservator of forests to put up permanent concrete slabs.

Also, the rain and discharge levels in reservoirs are a concern for the groundstaff as it would be difficult to mark low, medium, and high flood levels inside the forest and identify the area for the proposed reservoir as the area has been experiencing heavy rain.

Irrigation officials want the levels marked to help them assess the areas that will be submerged in the proposed Mekedatu project and the number of trees and vegetation that will be lost. The dam site is located 3 km downstream at the confluence of Arkavathy and Cauvery rivers at Sangama in Ramanagara and Chamarajanagar districts. The project will require 5,240 hectares of land, including revenue and forest, that will be acquired as per the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency of Land Acquisition Act, 2013.

The submergence depends on the height of the dam, which is proposed to generate 400 mw of power and meet the drinking water needs of Bengaluru, Ramanagara and other districts. The project also needs environment clearance from the forest ministry.

Conservator Malathi Priya said the officers have been drawn from the Bandipur Tiger Reserve, Chamarajnagar, Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Wild Life Sanctuary, MM Hills sanctuary and Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary. She said the survey could be completed within 60 days if the weather permits.

NIA ARRESTS ONE MORE IN TERROR CASE IN HYDERABAD

Hard disks, pen drives, SD cards, along with various documents seized during searches

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Tuesday arrested one more person in connection with the unlawful activities of a terrorist module owing allegiance to Hizb-Ut-Tahrir (HuT), an international fundamentalist organisation, operating in Bhopal and Hyderabad.

In an official statement, the agency said absconding HuT member Salman was arrested in Rajendra Nagar in Hyderabad, taking the number of arrests made so far to 17. The NIA registered a case on May 24.

The agency stated that the NIA teams seized incriminating digital devices, including hard disks, pen drives, SD cards, and so on, along with various documents during searches at two locations to arrest Salman. The searches were conducted based on credible inputs.

The NIA officials stated that the accused Salman was an active member of the Hyderabad-based module of HuT, which was led by Salim, who has already been arrested.

Salim, along with Salman and four others arrested were of Hyderabad module and they were operating to expand their 'Tanzeem' with an aim to establish a caliphate based on Shariat.

The NIA investigations show that the HuT was trying to build its organisation and cadre clandestinely by recruiting impressionable Muslim youth. The outfit aims to overthrow the constitutionally formed Government in India in order to establish Sharia law. The agency is continuing its investigations in the case and expects to unravel the entire conspiracy of HuT to destabilise the country.

The agency officials in May carried out searches in Hyderabad and arrested five persons.

Engineer turns thief after losing job, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 37-year-old electronics engineer and an undertrial at Parappana Agrahara central prison was taken into custody by Byappanahalli police in connection with two theft cases. Police recovered stolen gold ornaments worth around Rs 29 lakh from him.

The accused, who lost his job in 2019 due to alleged irregularities at his workplace, became a full-time thief. He was also involved in dacoity and robbery cases in Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. HSR Layout police arrested him in 2020, and since then, he has been in jail.

The accused, Mahamani alias Deena, a native of Chennai in Tamil Nadu, was working in a telecommunications company in Bengaluru. After he lost his job, he came in contact with a few habitual offenders and started committing thefts, robberies and dacoities, with a majority of the offences being committed in 2019.

He would identify locked houses during the day and commit thefts at night by breaking open the locks. When he was arrested in 2020, he had shared information about thefts he had committed in Sadanandanagar with another criminal in jail. The latter was picked up by Byappanahalli police for some other case, when he revealed the two thefts committed by Mahamani. Based on this information, police applied for a body warrant of Mahamani and took him into custody.

"Around 512 grams of gold ornaments pertaining to the two cases were recovered. He had sold some of the ornaments and given some to his friends, which were recovered.," said an officer.

Aluva murder accused involved in POCSO case

KOCHI: The police team probing the murder of a 5-year-old girl in Aluva has found the accused, Asafak Alam, was arrested and jailed in Delhi for molesting a minor girl in 2018. He had been absconding after jumping bail in the case. The Ernakulam rural police will soon inform their Delhi counterpart about Alam's arrest in the Aluva case. Police suspect that after being released on bail in the Delhi case, Alam might have travelled to other states before coming to Kerala a couple of years ago.

HC: Second round of police custody illegal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court said that once an accused is remanded in judicial custody, seeking police custody repeatedly on the ground that a total of 15 days of custody is not yet over, is a right that is unavailable to the prosecution.

The court, however, said under Section 482 CrPC, it would not venture into declaring that the statement recorded during the second stint of police custody be eschewed in its entirety, which is akin to statements of an illegal act.

"The issue now is, what happens to such statements recorded during illegal custody, so to say 'what happens to the fruit of a poisonous tree'. The tree is now declared to be poisonous as the second stint of police custody is illegal...the fruit of a poisonous tree should be tasted and tested only before the court concerned. Therefore, the issue is neither in favour of the petitioner, nor in favour of the Narcotics Control Bureau, but is to be taken note of," Justice M Nagaprasanna said.

He passed the order while partly allowing the petition filed by Emmanuel Michael (34), a resident of Kaverinagar in Bengaluru, questioning the order dated May 20, 2021, passed by the special court to hand him into police custody for three days, from May 21 to 23, 2021, in connection with the case registered by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), on December 17, 2020. He was arrested on December 19, 2020.

Declaring the second stint of police custody of the petitioner from May 21 to 23, 2021, illegal, the court said the special court is at liberty to consider the veracity of the statements recorded during the said period, and regulate the procedure in accordance with law.

TLI firing happened for 28-31 mins

TLI is performed when the spacecraft is at a specific point in its orbit known as 'perigee' or the closest point to the earth. The engines are fired at this moment so that the spacecraft gains enough speed to break free from earth's gravitational pull and embark on its journey towards the moon. As per experts, the firing is estimated to have happened for 28-31 minutes.

Chandrayaan 3 consists of a propulsion module, lander module and rover module. While Chandrayaan 1 and 2 had an orbiter, Chandrayaan 3 has no orbiter and the propulsion module will complete its job after releasing the lander.

The mission's objectives are to demonstrate a safe and soft landing on the lunar surface, demonstrate roving capabilities on the moon and to conduct on-site scientific experiments.

When India makes the successful touch down, it will become the fourth country to achieve this feat.

VISL to resume operations on August 10

RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI
@Shivamogga

MP BY Raghavendra said the management of Steel Authority of India Limited (SAIL) and Central government has accepted to restart production at Visvesvaraya Iron and Steel Limited, a unit of SAIL. It is slated to resume after a gap of seven months.

In a press release, Raghavendra said the bar mill operations at the VISL will commence from August 10 and the primary milling too would start operating thereafter.

VISL had stopped its production activities from January 2023. However, the unit was selling the already produced material to its customers.

Jagadish, president of VISL employees association, said as they require 10 days to prepare for commencing the operations, the productions will restart on August 11. As for the Primary mill operations, they require at least 20 days to make necessary preparations for operating the furnace, he added.

Presently, VISL has about 200 permanent staff , 52 officers and 1300 contract staff.

HOT WHEELS DRIVE AUTO SALES BUT INFRA CONTINUES TO LIMP

Sales of passenger vehicles (PVs)—which cover cars and utility vehicles, including SUVs and vans—grew at a healthy 9% for the April-June quarter, with the number of units shipped up to 9.96 lakh from the comparative previous quarter of 2022. Dissecting the numbers, it appears that utility vehicles—the signal of a new lifestyle—are driving the auto market. UVs like Tata Nexon and the Hyundai Creta sold 5.47 lakh units—a tremendous 18% growth and accounting for 55% of the overall car market. Industry leader Maruti Suzuki's net profit more than doubled by 145% to ₹2,485 cr for the first quarter of FY24, compared to ₹1,029 cr in the same quarter last year. The robust performance was not so much because of its sedans and hatchbacks, whose numbers declined, but on the back of the 56% growth in the UV segment which clocked 1.26 lakh units.

India's uber consumer's love affair with the SUV is not an isolated streak. It's a new way the rich and the upper middle class look at the good life. It is the willingness to splurge on luxury, provided it has the correct flash and sparkle. Sales of single malt whiskeys, premium smartphones and TVs are shooting through the roof. As many as 36 models of SUVs have been launched in the last five years, but sales of cars priced under ₹10 lakh are falling. This is not to say it is all style. Consumers realise SUVs can take our rough and half-built roads better.

India produced over 2.5 million passenger vehicles last financial year, and by 2030 our auto market is expected to become the world's third-largest. The newer models are bigger and heavier, but can our infrastructure sustain this explosive growth? Urban India, especially the non-metro cities and towns, is a maze of unplanned lanes with no scope for expansion. Over 40% of our roads are unsurfaced and can only be used in fair weather. Internal city roads are poorly constructed and, in the monsoon, turn into a minefield of potholes.

The demand for electric vehicles (EVs) is booming, but a lack of charging and battery-swapping stations is proving to be a constraint. Compared to an estimated requirement of 50,000 public charging stations, we have just 5,200. It is, therefore, time to turn the focus away from hot wheels to improving our transport infrastructure.

UDUPI VIDEO CASE NEEDS QUICK RESOLUTION

A controversial college washroom incident in coastal Karnataka's Udupi is now a national headline spinner. What started allegedly as a prank, albeit an unsavoury one, has been given a communal twist by right-wing student unions and local leaders amid a flood of misinformation over what exactly happened. The police version and the ongoing investigation have been conveniently brushed aside, and the faith of the students has gained primacy. A strange tragedy of errors unfolded: Three girls attempting to film a classmate in the toilet ended up filming the wrong student, who noticed the mobile phone. The videos were deleted, and the issue was addressed at the college level. It may have been a practical joke done "for fun", as the girls claimed, but it did cross the bar of decency and is a crime in the eyes of the law. It deserves the strictest action by the management.

The case is taking its due legal course—though the "victim" did not wish to file a complaint, protests broke out, leading to an FIR against the girls; their mobile phones were sent to the forensics department, the National Commission for Women (NCW) began its investigation, and the girls were suspended. The issue does not deserve politicisation, the extreme levels of sound and fury that right-wing leaders are kicking up off-campus, the demands for an SIT probe, and the allegations of a "larger conspiracy", with the girls being labelled "jihadis". NCW member and BJP leader Khushbu Sundar dismissed rumours of hidden cameras in the washroom and a viral video, saying that misinformation is hindering the investigation, while Udupi SP Akshay Machhindra has said no evidence has come to light yet.

At this point, one must draw a parallel between two videos hogging the national limelight: The Udupi video, which was deleted and is unavailable to the public, and the Manipur outrage video, which the entire country has viewed. Some sections are attempting to magnify one and downplay the other, using fake news and social media as tools to do so. The difference in reactions is stark and serves the cause of the ruling party at the Centre.

The political slugfest between the Congress and BJP over the washroom incident has only added fuel in a region known to be a hotbed of communalism. The state government must handle the issue firmly and ensure the police resolve the case lawfully and justly.

QUICK TAKE

SETTLING CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS

Twenty-nine cases relating to serious national issues are pending before the Supreme Court's constitutional benches, the oldest dating back to 1992. They include questions on the limits of free speech, reservation, Jallikattu's legality, the entry of women into Sabarimala, the scope of the State's and courts' powers to interfere in religious matters, etc. Examining intricate case law matters takes time, but growing piles of pending appeals leave judges with little time for constitutional questions. The court must consider its former Chief Justices' suggestions for a way out: Establish a permanent Constitution bench in Delhi and regional benches of the SC to hear appeals.

The idea of social justice or welfare is meant to resolve socio-economic and educational imbalances and historical injustices, but here this may have been reduced to a poll trick

FIVE GUARANTEES OF CONGRESS AND THE WELFARE QUESTION

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior Journalist and author of Strange Burdens: The Politics and Predicaments of Rahul Gandhi

It has been nearly three months since the Congress party posted an impressive victory in Karnataka. However, ironically, it has not had a single happy headline during this period. The Siddaramaiah government has already faced charges of corruption and nepotism. Public utterances of leaders would also push one to believe that there is dissidence brewing in the party's ranks. The government has not just witnessed a stormy budget session but also experienced an unusually angry legislature party meeting recently.

All of this may be dismissed as routine politics. Some of it may have been created by an aggressive Opposition and an unfriendly press, but not all problems of the government fall under this cynical umbrella. The worries about its financial commitments are very real, and some feel these may drift into something dangerous.

Raising money to fund the guarantees (five in all) that the Congress announced rather unthinkingly during the Assembly poll campaign has become a burdensome task. In the government's own estimation, it needs over ₹52,000 crore annually to fulfil the guarantees, but the budget has offered few clues as to how this would be generated. The state's finance audit report for the year ending March 2022 further pushes us to believe that it is the gloomy resource situation that has wiped the smile off a new government, which would have otherwise gone around like an exuberant groom.

The government's fellow travellers may try to convince us through their opinion pieces that welfare measures initially cause resource hiccups but eventually settle down well. But the more basic question is: Are these guarantees really "welfare" in the classical sense? At least four of the five schemes cover a flat, universal beneficiary audience and do not employ the idea of positive discrimination. The schemes promise bus travel for all women; free units of electricity for all households; unemployment doles for all, and a kind of inflation allowance for all women. In other words, they do not target the disadvantaged specifically, but are meant for everybody no matter what their social and economic status really is. The additional worry is these are not a one-time dispersal but a recurring expense.

The idea of social justice or welfare is typically meant to resolve socio-economic and educational imbalances and historical injustices, but here they may have been reduced to a poll trick. When two groups at opposite ends of the economic and social spectrum are given equal advantages, the idea of social justice or welfare gets truncated. Technically, the weaker sections are enabled, but theoretically, a status quo persists as disparity is perpetuated.

SOURAV ROY

Further, the welfare idea gets trampled when the government cuts budgetary allocations to sectors like education, health, water resources, agriculture and rural development to fund the five guarantees. If funds to these basic sectors that take care of a larger common good and fulfil the not-so-visible needs are cut, what will the short- and long-term impacts be? Has the concept of guarantees now managed to subvert our very idea of welfare, social justice and development?

Sample this: In its desperation to raise money for the guarantees, the state government has set a staggering new target for the excise department—to generate ₹6000 crore of additional revenue in the current financial year. To achieve this new target, people should consume more liquor, not just pay extra for what they consume. While the government puts more money in the hands of individuals, it also indirectly encourages the consumption of liquor. What would this contradiction amount to in welfare terms? What is the moral imperative of a government?

Similarly, free bus rides to all women under the Shakti scheme has resulted in them undertaking more pilgrimages across the state, according to multiple reports. If revenues of temples controlled by private trusts go up, will that be shared with the government to take up more development works? Forget what religious tourism does to the ideological intent of an avowedly secular government. That is anyway too speculative an assessment. But for the record, Veerendra Heggade, the Dharamadikari of Dharmastala, recently wrote to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to tell him how happy the women arriving in Dharmastala were about the free bus travel scheme. Heggade was nominated to the Rajya Sabha a year ago by the BJP government. Is aiding religious tourism, consciously or unconsciously, part of the welfare imagination?

Meanwhile, the government postponed by two years a proposal to upgrade 361 high schools to composite pre-university colleges for lack of funds. In another circular, it cut spending on school uniforms by saying it will provide the cloth, while tailoring charges have to be borne by beneficiary parents. In another context, it said if children need quality shoes, donors have to be identified. These may look like petty, silly examples, but they nevertheless hold a mirror to a welfare state quietly washing its hands of its core duties, only to fund unreasonable poll promises.

Even if one wishes to consider a larger picture, then read this with regard to the dole of ₹2,000 every month to the women heads of families under the Gruha Lakshmi guarantee scheme. The finance department wrote in June 2023: "Taking up the scheme will create huge recurring liability and will entail significantly large reductions in existing budgetary provisions across all the heads of accounts and departments, both under revenue and capital heads. Further the state would be pushed towards a huge revenue deficit thereby violating the Karnataka Fiscal Responsibility Act." It also said that if the scheme was extended to just BPL families, the annual expense would still be ₹31,423 crore and it was not possible to provide such enormous funds each financial year.

This observation of the finance department raises a question mark over the longevity of these schemes. In another gloomy forecast for welfare, it was openly declared that there were no development funds to be offered to legislators because the poll guarantees had to be met. Therefore, the question remains: Can guarantees ever be equated with welfare? Or are they Congress' populist response to the Hindutva populism of the BJP? Interestingly, a gram panchayat member has petitioned the Karnataka High Court, calling guarantees as bribes offered to voters. In an election setting, there can of course be both economic and emotional bribes offered in the guise of euphemistic coinages.

STREETS NOT ABODES FOR DOGS, CITIZENS' SAFETY PRIORITY

B K SHARMA

Former Director General of Police, Odisha

The brutal attacks and mauling of infants and elders by violent street dogs in different parts of the country are countless and shocking. One can fathom the dimensions of the menace—there are around 6.2 cr street dogs in India. As per current population figures, there are four dogs per 100 people. India reported nearly 16 mn cases of stray dog bites between 2019 and 2022, averaging over 10,000 daily. The WHO report on rabies in India says that around 21,000 deaths occur annually in India due to rabies, and dogs are responsible for 99% of rabies transmissions.

The constitutional and legal mandates regarding animals in general and stray dogs in particular, are those of empathy and kindness. Article 51A makes it a fundamental duty of every citizen to have compassion for living creatures. The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960, makes subjecting any animal to unnecessary pain or suffering a penal offence. Indian courts have passed orders to prevent cruelty towards and suffering of animals while directing the State Animal Welfare Boards to initiate appropriate steps to fulfil the legal mandate.

Though the Justice Siri Jagan Committee appointed by the Supreme Court reported that "in view of the very grave situation prevailing in the state of Kerala on account of the stray dog menace, to safeguard the interests of the people of the state and to protect the people from the dangers caused by stray dogs, it is imperative to find some means for the immediate reduction of the stray dog population in the state to a manageable level, on a war footing", courts have been of the view that street dogs have a right to live on the streets and a vigorous sterilisation programme can contain their unchecked growth.

In a significant judgment, the Nagpur bench of the Bombay High Court passed an order on October 20, 2022, stating that "no citizen and no resident of Nagpur and areas surrounding it shall feed or make any attempt to feed the stray dogs in public places, gardens, etc." Observing that the menace of street dogs has increased "beyond tolerable limits", the court directed that any person desirous of feeding a stray dog must adopt it first, take it home and register it with the municipal authorities. The court also directed Nagpur's police authorities to invoke powers under Section 44 of the Maharashtra Police Act to destroy street dogs as per the prescribed procedure.

The order was challenged in the SC, which in November 2022 stayed it. Holding that citizens have the right to feed stray dogs, the SC ordered the municipal corporation to identify and demarcate areas where such feeding shall be allowed, while directing it to take appropriate steps as per the law to prevent the nuisance by street dogs.

Against this backdrop of constitutional and legal protections and empathetic court orders, we have carefully chosen to gloss over the real problem caused by street dogs in urban landscapes.

EXPRESS PHOTO

> Against the backdrop of constitutional and legal protections and empathetic court orders, we have carefully chosen to gloss over the real problem caused by street dogs in urban landscapes

Every locality in our cities and towns is virtually under siege by packs of dogs whose ferocity and aggressiveness during night hours cause serious concern. They virulently chase and attack competing pack members, other animals, people travelling in cycles and vehicles—in short—any moving object. Horrendous instances are regularly reported of stray dogs mauling children, wounding adults or going on biting sprees. Many urban local bodies are initiating a garbage collection system through mobile vans: the resultant non-availability of food for street dogs makes them more ferocious and aggressive.

The moot question is: whose responsibility is it, after all, to control the dog menace? There is no denying that the sterilisation programme, intended to bring down and ultimately eliminate the dog population in the long run, has failed miserably because of high costs and a complete lack of interest on the part of urban local bodies, which are now saddled with so many other responsibilities. Resident welfare associations do not feel responsible either because, for many, street dogs are free-of-cost night guards and hence insurance against thefts or unauthorised entries. Animal welfare groups champion the rights of animals and take up cudgels whenever there is any statutory violation but choose to be oblivious to the rights of citizens when it comes to the uncontrolled aggression of street dogs. Residents feeding street dogs refuse to admit that caring for them is an instance of misplaced sympathy at the cost of citizen safety.

There is no denying that with increased urbanisation, the menace of street dogs shall exponentially increase, given the apathetic attitude of all stakeholders. This will expose the citizens, especially the old, the young, the sick and the infirm, to grave dangers. Hence, it is time for us to take an unequivocal policy decision mandating that streets are surely not the abodes of dogs.

Many Western countries have a clear-cut policy: dogs are loved like their children but confined to their homes. They cannot be left to roam the streets. If abandoned, the authorities take them to dog pounds, where they need to be adopted within a short period. Otherwise, they will be euthanised to create space for others. We should consider having a similar policy decision: streets are not meant for dogs. Municipal authorities must have adequate dog shelters to house street dogs. A window for adoption must be allowed for dog lovers, after which depending on age, aggression and other traits, the animals need to be culled painlessly. The cost of running dog shelters and carrying out euthanasia will be cheaper than sterilisation and anti-rabies treatment.

This will be the real method to prevent animal cruelty: without this, street dogs face the serious risk of grave retribution at the hands of citizens, who have no other means of escaping from their ferocity on the streets.

Bansuri's view

It is surprising that the daughter of the late Sushma Swaraj (the latter would often talk about 'Bharatiya Sabyatha' or 'Naari'), Bansuri Swaraj, intervened in the SC's hearing on the Manipur violence, pointing instead to crimes in Rajasthan, West Bengal, etc. Female politicians should raise their voices against such crimes. Rather than "what about others", "what action and steps" would be the only way to force the government to take action.

Weak system

Every day, we see reports of rapes and murders from across the country. Even though there is a plethora of laws to deal with such crimes, they have not been implemented in letter and spirit. Many perpetrators get away without any punishment due to the lacunae in our criminal justice system.

Ashes victors

After losing the first two matches, England came back and won 2–2 against Australia in the fifth Ashes Test. The gripping series came to a close, with both teams playing well. However, the target of 384 in the second innings proved too much for the Aussies, who lost by 49 runs. The risky but rewarding 'Bazball Cricket' advocated by the English side needs special mention here.

House to debate no-trust motion on Aug 8-10

Prime Minister Narendra Modi likely to reply to the motion on August 10

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha will debate the no-confidence motion between August 8 and 10, nearly two weeks after the Opposition bloc INDIA moved the motion against the Modi government. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is likely to reply to the motion on August 10. Besides the INDIA bloc, Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) has also moved a no-trust motion against the government on the Manipur issue.

The decision to debate the motion was taken at Lok Sabha's Business Advisory Committee meeting. This was despite the Opposition parties boycotting the meeting in protest against the debate not being taken up immediately.

The Trinamool Congress and BRS demanded that the House take up the motion immediately. They said that the government is ram-rodding bills after the Lok Sabha Speaker accepted the no-trust motion.

On July 26, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla accepted the no-confidence motion moved by Congress MP Gaurav Gogoi against the Modi-led government. The Opposition has been demanding a comprehensive statement from Prime Minister Modi on Manipur followed by a discussion. Both Houses of Parliament have not been functioning since the Monsoon session began on July 20.

Speaking to media, Congress whip in the Lok Sabha Manickam Tagore said the parties walked out of the meeting of the Business Advisory Committee of Lok Sabha after the government refused to agree to their demand for an immediate discussion on no-confidence motion.

"The INDIA alliance parties demanded that the no-confidence motion be taken up tomorrow itself," he said. Citing the previous instance of no-confidence motion moved by the Telugu Desam Party in 2018, he pointed out that it was taken up the next day itself.

Citing rules, the Opposition leaders have objected to the passage of the bills by the government in the House. Speaking to this newspaper, RSP MP Premachandran said, "When the leave of the House to the moving of a motion of no-confidence has been granted, no substantive motion on policy matters is to be brought before the House by the government till the motion of no-confidence is not disposed off," he said, citing Kaul and Shakdher.

Oppn leaders to meet Prez

The leaders of Opposition alliance INDIA will meet President Droupadi Murmu on Wednesday to discuss the Manipur issue. The delegation will also include 21 MPs, who visited Manipur on July 29-30. Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge had sought time from President Murmu on behalf of the Opposition parties to discuss the Manipur issue, and the President has granted time.

Insulted, not allowed to speak in RS, says Kharge

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

TAKING exception to the conduct of the treasury benches in Parliament, Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge on Tuesday alleged that despite being the leader of the Opposition, he was being insulted in Parliament by not being allowed to speak.

Speaking to the media along with senior INDIA leaders at Vijay Chowk, Kharge said the BJP government was trying to intimidate the opposition parties, but they would continue the fight to save democracy and the Constitution. "INDIA will not be intimidated and INDIA was not constituted to run away," said Kharge.

Taking a dig at the government's claims that it treated everyone at par, he pointed out that he was not even allowed to speak and that the mike was switched off within 10 seconds. He said this was an insult to him. "Is this democracy? This is a dictatorship and this is Hitler-shahi."

Kharge pointed out that a record number of 65 Rajya Sabha MPs had sought discussion under Rule 267. "This was the first time that so many members sought suspension of business to discuss Manipur, since it was not an ordinary incident. Women are being paraded naked and people are being killed. Despite that the government is not ready for discussion," he said.

"This application works on a hub and spoke model wherein doctors provide services in Health and Wellness Centers in rural areas," the minister said.

3,372 PSYCHOLOGISTS PRACTISING IN INDIA

India has 3,372 clinical psychologists registered with Rehabilitation Council of India (RCI), Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare, Prof Satya Pal Singh Baghel, informed Rajya Sabha on Tuesday. The national capital has the highest number of clinical psychologists, with 162 registered in Delhi in the last three years. Delhi is followed by Kerala, where 143 have been registered in the last three years.

DISABILITY NOT INCLUDED IN NFHS-6: MINISTER

The Centre on Tuesday confirmed that they have decided not to include disability-related questions in NFHS-6 following detailed discussions and deliberations, the Rajya Sabha was informed Tuesday. In a written response, Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare, Dr Bharati Pravin Pawar, said the selection of questions to be included in NFHS-6 questionnaire is based on recommendations of a Technical Advisory Committee and other high-level committees comprising of representatives from concerned Central ministries such as Social Justice and Empowerment, and Statistics and Programme Implementation.

Rohini Commission report: Govt may tread cautiously

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH the much-awaited report of the Rohini Commission, tasked with the sub-categorisation of Other Backward Classes (OBCs), submitted to President Droupadi Murmu, all eyes are now on the Narendra Modi government on whether it will implement the recommendations of the panel or not.

With the election year looming, the government will be treading cautiously as caste politics will have political ramifications for the BJP in state and national elections.

Sources said the government will examine and study the implications of the report as it cannot afford to upset the influential OBC communities, which has been a force behind its electoral gains since 2014. In the 2019 elections, the BJP's OBC vote share rose to 44 per cent from 20 per cent in 2009.

Justice G Rohini Commission, which was set up in 2017, was tasked with forming scientific data on sub-categories and ensuring equitable redistribution of 27 per cent of quota benefits among all sub-communities. Though the panel was to submit its report by January 2, 2018, it was given 14 extensions since then. Experts pointed out that if the Rohini Commission report has to be implemented, a caste census to enumerate different castes needs to be done first.

In 2018, sharing its findings with media, the Rohini Commission said that less than one per cent backward castes have cornered 50 per cent of the reservation benefits in admissions to Central educational institutions and recruitment to Central services between 2014 and 2018. There are more than 2,600 communities in the OBC Central list. It also said that 938 OBC sub-castes have no representation in the reserved seats

In its findings, the commission said that 20 per cent of the communities could not avail of any benefits and only 2.68 per cent of reservation has been availed by 994 sub-castes. The OBCs are eligible for a 27 per cent quota in government jobs and education institutions. There could be at least 5,000 communities and sub-communities in the 2,600 entries, according to the commission.

BENEFIT DISTRIBUTION

- 27% quota for OBCs in government jobs and education institutions
- 2,600 OBC communities in the Central list
- 938 OBC sub-castes have no representation in reserved seats, the Rohini Commission has found
- 994 sub-castes availed only 2.68% of reservation, the commission said

War not an option, open to hold talks with India on serious issues: Pak PM

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PAKISTANI Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Tuesday said he was ready to hold talks with India on serious issues as war was not an option.

"God forbid, if there is a nuclear flashpoint, who will live to tell what happened? So, war is not an option," said Sharif while addressing a conference on Mineral Developments in Islamabad.

Pakistan harbours nothing against anyone, Sharif said, adding that they were prepared to talk to India, provided that

India is ready to talk on serious matters. He also said that despite being a nuclear power, Pakistan is not an aggressor and has nuclear facilities only for defence purposes.

The Pakistan PM went further to say that India and Pakistan fought three wars in the past 75 years, which led to poverty and deprived the Pakistani populance of resources, which would have otherwise been spent on development and prosperity of the people. So, its not the way foward and they would rather have economic completion. "But the neighbour has to understand that we cannot become normal neighbours unless abnormalities are removed, unless our serious issues are understood and addressed through peaceful and meaningful discussions," he said.

SC to take up Uddhav plea against EC order after Art 370 hearing

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to consider former Maharashtra chief minister Uddhav Thackeray's plea against Election Commission of India's (EI) order of granting Shiv Sena's name and its 'bow and arrow' symbol to the Eknath Shinde faction. It will hear the plea after conclusion of the Article 370 hearing.

Senior Advocate Amit Anand Tiwari mentioned the plea before the bench of Chief Justice (CJI) DY Chandrachud, and Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Mishra. "We'll have to hear it. Wait for the Constitution Bench and we will list it," the CJI said.

The Uddhav faction had suffered a setback when the Supreme Court, on February 22, refused to stay the ECI's order, and directed the current Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and the ECI to file its counter within two weeks. The bench had also refused to accede to Uddhav Thackeray's request to restrain the Shinde faction from taking over the party's office and bank accounts in Parliament and the state assembly. Remarking that there is a contractual relationship within the parties, the bench said they can pursue alternate remedies of law.

"It's a contractual relationship within the party. We are entertaining the Special Leave Petition, but we can't stay the order," the CJI had remarked.

Furthermore, the bench had also allowed the Thackeray faction to continue using the 'flaming torch' symbol and the name of Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackarey). The ECI, while allotting the party's name to the Shinde faction, had also allowed the Uddhav faction to retain the new name and the symbol till the by-elections for 205-Chinchwad and 215-Kasba Peth of Maharashtra Legislative Assembly were over.

Worrying trend: Rlys debt shoots up in 4 yrs

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

DESPITE efforts being taken by the Indian Railways (IR), its debt burden has increased in the last four years.

The debt during the financial year 2019-20 was ₹20,304 crore, which went up to ₹23,386 crore in 2020-21. According to data shared by railway minister Ashwini Vaishnaw in Parliament, the debt rose from ₹23,386 crore in 2020-21 to ₹28,702 crore in 2021-22, registering a sharp increase of ₹5,316 crore.

The margin of debt from 2019-20 to 2020-21 continued to the level of ₹5,316 crore in 2021-22 from ₹3,086 crore in 2020-21.

The Railways raised extra-budgetary resources through Indian Railway Finance Corporation, which is a public sector undertaking under the railway ministry, for financing acquisition of rolling stock assets and construction of other projects. Railway officials attribute the rise in debt to big projects.

In the same way, despite all-out efforts to enhance revenue through services and non-services resources, the Railways' debt shot up to ₹34,189 crore in 2022-23, putting an extra burden of ₹9,487 crore.

"We are working on a lot of mega projects and infrastructure development. Railways is also exploring various avenues for enhancing revenues from its internal services and resources to reduce the debt," said a senior railway official.

The finance ministry had also provided a special loan of ₹79, 398 crore for Covid-related resources gap in 2020-21, when the Railways registered a sharp decline in income. Railways maintained that repayment of this special loan to the ministry of loan will start from the financial year 2024-25.

Meanwhile, official sources said that as many as 189 new line projects involving 20,659 kilometres at ₹3.99 lakh crore were in the pipeline. These are in the planning, sanction and construction stages as on April 1.

"We are under debt burden, but out of the 20,659 kilometres of new lines, 2,903 kilometres have already been commissioned at the cost of ₹1.37 lakh crore till March 23 this year," said a senior railway official.

Earlier this year, a parliamentary standing committee on Railways expressed concern over the drastic fall in Railways' net revenue. Net revenue is the excess of the Railways' receipts over expenditure or its 'profits'. In FY2021-22, Railways recorded a negative net revenue or loss of ₹15,024.58 crore.

In its Demands for Grants Report, the committee observed that the Railways' net revenues has witnessed a drastic decline since 2020-21 except in 2014-15, when it witnessed an increase of 8.20 per cent. "During the last five years, with effect from 2018-19 onwards, the revised estimates were reduced to more than 50 per cent and the actuals were far behind from RE in all these years," the panel noted.

Teesta moves Gujarat HC to quash FIR on 2002 riots

A sessions court recently rejected her discharge petition in case

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

SOCIAL activist Teesta Setalvad on Monday moved the Gujarat High Court seeking the dismissal of an FIR filed against her and two others — former DGP RB Sreekumar and former IPS officer Sanjiv Bhatt — on suspicion of falsifying evidence in the Gujarat riots in 2002.

A sessions court recently rejected her discharge plea in the case, even as the Supreme Court granted her bail after the Gujarat High Court denied her relief. On Monday, Setalvad moved a plea in the High Court for quashing the FIR. The matter is likely to come up for hearing in a few days.

Setalvad, Sreekumar and Bhatt were arrested by the city crime branch in June 2022 on the charges of forgery and fabricating evidence with the intent to implicate Gujarat government functionaries in the 2002 riots cases.

An FIR was registered against them after the SC last month dismissed the plea filed by Zakia Jafri, whose husband, former Congress MP Ehsan Jafri, was killed during the riots.

While dismissing the petition, the Supreme Court had stated, "It appears to us that a concerted effort of disgruntled officials of the state of Gujarat, together with others, was to create a sensation by making revelations that were false to their own knowledge."

Soon after the Supreme Court verdict, Ahmedabad Detection of Crime Branch (DCB) filed an FIR against activist Teesta Setalvad, former Director General of Police R B Sreekumar, and Former IPS Sanjeev Bhatt for plotting to falsely implicate innocent persons in the Gujarat riots of 2002.

Setalvad has been booked under Sections 468 (forgery for the purpose of cheating) and 194 (giving or fabricating false evidence with intent to procure conviction for capital offense) of the IPC, among others.

Apart from Gulbarg Society, Setalvad has taken up cases of the Naroda Patiya, Naroda Gam, Sardarpura, Dipda Darwaja, Ode and Best Bakery riot victims. Earlier last month, Gujarat High Court had asked Teesta to surrender immediately. She scored a major reprieve from the Supreme Court, which granted her bail.

Justices BR Gavai, AS Bopanna and Dipankar Datta set aside the order of the Gujarat High Court rejecting her plea for regular bail amid an investigation for allegedly fabricating evidence in cases related to the riots.

Kantilal Bhuria to head Cong poll campaign in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

EYEING the 21% tribal vote, the opposition Congress has appointed senior tribal leader and former union minister Kantilal Bhuria of its election campaign committee in assembly polls-bound Madhya Pradesh.

The 73-year-old Bhil tribe leader (Bhil tribe is the largest tribe in the state) who was a minister in the erstwhile Manmohan Singh government at the centre, will head the 34-strong election management committee of the party in the state, where assembly polls are slated in November, an official statement of the All India Congress Committee (AICC) said on Tuesday.

The committee also includes all senior and prominent leaders, including two former CMs Kamal Nath (state party chief) and Digvijaya Singh, leader of opposition Dr Govind Singh, former state party chiefs Arun Yadav and Suresh Pachauri and lone Lok Sabha member Nakul Nath (who is Kamal Nath's son) among others.

"The appointment of Kantilal Bhuria (who is also ex-state Congress chief) as the chairman of the campaign committee, is a clear cut message of tribal empowerment," a senior Congress leader said.

Cong names OBC face Wadettiwar as LoP in Maha

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

After a long wait, the Congress has chosen party MLA Vijay Wadettiwar for the post of leader of the opposition (LoP) in the Maharashtra state assembly. The party submitted a letter to the Speaker asking him to announce Wadettiwar as the LoP on Wednesday.

Congress Legislative Party leader Balasaheb Thorat said the party submitted the letter to speaker Rahul Narwekar informing him that Congress is the single largest Opposition party with 45 MLAs and its MLA Vijay Wadettiwar should be appointed as LoP.

The delegation of Congress leaders, comprising former Maharashtra chief minister Ashok Chavan, Thorat and Mumbai Congress president Varsha Gaikwad met the speaker. Thorat said that they got the phone call from the Congress high command on Tuesday suggesting Wadettiwar's name for LoP.

When asked why Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole was missing in the delegation, Thorat said he was told that Patole was in Delhi therefore he could not come to meet the speaker. Vijay Wadettiwar is an OBC leader who hails from Vidarbha, once a stronghold of the Congress. He had served as Relief and Rehabilitation Minister in the previous Maha Vikas Aghadi government, headed by Shiv Sena.

The Congress will also put its claim for LoP in the upper House. In the upper house of state assembly, the Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena's MLC strength reduced from 10 to 8, while the Congress has nine MLCs. "We very soon put the claim over LoP in the upper house. We will have discussion with Shiv Sena and our party high command and the name of upper house LoP will be also finalised," said a senior Congress leader.

Claim on Upper House

The Congress will also lay its claim for LoP in the Upper House, says a senior Congress leader. In the upper house of state assembly, the Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena's MLC strength reduced from 10 to 8, while the Congress has nine MLCs.

'Red Diary' issue rocks state assembly

The 'Red Diary' continues to create a stir in election-bound Rajasthan. Sacked minister Rajendra Gudha waving a 'Red Diary' in the state assembly had claimed that it contained the dark deeds of the Gehlot government. After that the BJP has made it a major plank of its poll plans. Even PM Narendra Modi referred to the 'Red Diary' in his election meeting in Sikar last week and claimed it would sink the Congress in the coming polls. There is talk of an officer of a Central Investigation agency in Jaipur receiving a call from his Delhi boss to gather all details on the 'Red Diary' and await further orders.

Cubs born in Sariska, tiger lovers overjoyed

Tiger lovers in Rajasthan are overjoyed as tigress ST-19 has given birth to two cubs in the Sariska Tiger Reserve. With this, the number of tigers in Sariska has increased to 30. With the birth of tiger cubs, all forest officers and employees are jubilant. Even Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot tweeted, "New life in the forest. The government is committed to the conservation of tigers which are important for the environment." The total number of tigers in Rajasthan has risen from 69 to 88 in the last four years and the state now occupies 9th position in the number of tigers in the country.

Gehlot's son to start new league on lines of IPL

Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's son and Rajasthan Cricket Association director Vaibhav Gehlot may not be active in politics after losing the Jodhpur Lok Sabha seat in the last Lok Sabha election, but he is often discussed in political circles in this poll season. At a recent election rally, Home Minister Amit Shah had said that CM Gehlot wants to make his son the Chief Minister. While Vaibhav has no political role, he is set to give a big gift to cricket lovers in the election year. He has announced that RCA will soon organise Rajasthan Premier League (RPL) on the lines of the famous IPL. The cricket league will begin this month and 6 teams will participate.

'Selective action' against Manipur cop, protesters hit streets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE officer in-charge (OC) of Manipur's Nongpok Sekmai police station, under whose jurisdiction two tribal women were disrobed and paraded on May 4, has been suspended but the government action triggered a protest. Inspector Keisham Premkumar was suspended for failing to thwart the incident which drew widespread protests and condemnation.

Thousands of protestors vented their ire outside the Nongpok Sekmai police station in Thoubal district on Monday demanding the revocation of the suspension order. They argued that if the OC could be suspended for failing to thwart the incident, then the state's all 60 legislators should resign for failing to contain the violence.

An organisation, called Apunba Meira Paibi Lup (AMPAL), condemned "selective trial". It asked if action was initiated against senior Kuki police officers. It alleged Meiteis were being targeted. The AMPAL claimed the OC could not perform his constitutional duties as the mob was huge. The organisation warned that if he was not reinstated early, it would intensify the agitation.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi being conferred the Tilak award as Governor Ramesh Bais, Eknath Shinde, Devendra Fadnavis, Ajit Pawar and NCP chief Sharad Pawar look on | PTI

MODI GETS 'TILAK' IN PAWAR'S PRESENCE

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday was conferred the Lokmanya Tilak National Award in Pune in a ceremony attended by NCP chief Sharad Pawar.

The veteran Maharashtra leader showed up at the event despite intense pressure from allies and his own party leaders not to share stage with Modi. The opposition INDIA alliance felt the event won't be good optics for them at a time when a united front is being put up against the BJP.

This was the first meeting of Modi and Pawar after a split in NCP, triggered by rebellion by Ajit Pawar who joined the BJP-Shiv Sena-led Maharashtra government last month.

In his speech, Modi said India has come a long way from 'trust deficit' to be a 'trust-surplus' country. He said trust surplus is seen today both in policies and hard work of the people. "Development is impossible if there is an atmosphere of mistrust," he added.

During the ceremony, Modi and Pawar were seen engaged in small talk.

However, while speaking at the event, Sharad Pawar took a dig at Modi, saying: "Shivaji Maharaj never snatched anyone's land," in an apparent reference to the BJP's role in splitting the Shiv Sena and NCP.

The Lokmanya Tilak National Award was constituted in 1983 to honour the legacy of Lokmanya Tilak and is presented every year on August 1, Tilak's death anniversary. Modi was conferred the award in recognition of his 'supreme leadership' and for 'awakening the feeling of patriotism among citizens'.

Out of 31 gang-rape cases in 5 yrs till '21, only 5 convicted in Gujarat: Govt

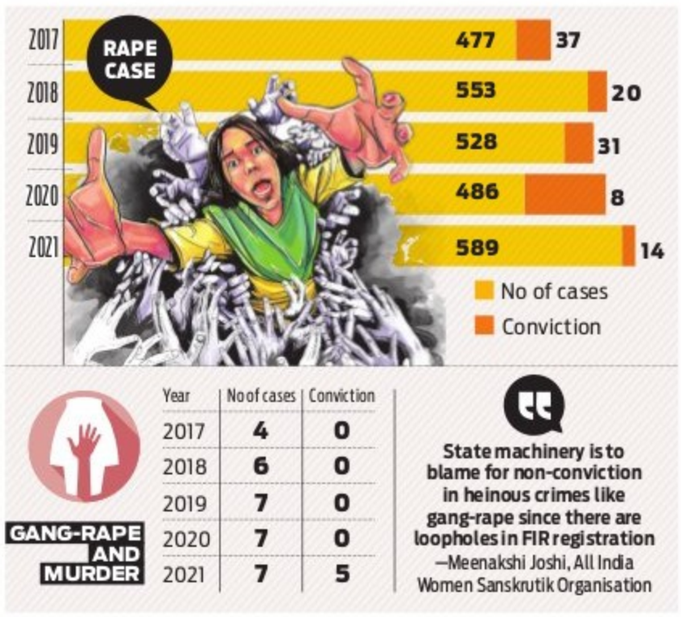
DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

GUJARAT is considered a safe state for women. But the number of crimes against women reported in the state may not support this. In the five years up to 2021, the state has reported 2,633 cases of rape and 31 cases of gang-rape and murder of women.

According to the Government of India's reply in the Lok Sabha, while only five people have been prosecuted in gang-rape and murder cases, 4,820 cases have been reported in five years under the category 'Assault on Women with Intent to Outrage her Modesty'.

On July 25, MPs asked in the Lok Sabha whether incidences of harassment of women, including rape and murder, have escalated. In response, the Ministry of Home Affairs gave the statistics of five years of violence against women in India.

According to Gujarat statistics, four cases of gang-rape and murder of women were reported in 2017, but no one was convicted. In 2018, six cases were reported and no one convicted. Next year, seven cases were reported. Again, no one was convicted. Seven cases were reported in 2020, without anyone being punished. In 2021, seven cases were reported, and five people were prosecuted.



GANG-RAPE AND MURDER	Year	No of cases	Conviction
	2018	6	0
	2019	7	0
	2021	7	5

State machinery is to blame for non-conviction in heinous crimes like gang-rape since there are loopholes in FIR registration
—Meenakshi Joshi, All India Women Sanskrutik Organisation

Meenakshi Joshi, All India Women Sanskrutik Organisation, said, "The state machinery is to blame for non-convictions in heinous crimes such as gang-rape since there are loopholes in the registration of FIRs. Under Section 164 of the relevant Act, the survivor's statement should be taken as quickly as possible, yet the state apparatus is either not interested or it is slow."

According to statistics presented in the Lok Sabha, 477 cases of rape were registered in Gujarat in 2017. While 37 accused were convicted, 283 persons were acquitted. In 2018, 553 cases were registered; 20 were convicted and 179 were set free. While 528 cases were registered in 2019, 31 persons were convicted and 165 acquitted. In 2020, 486 cases were registered; eight persons were convicted and 77 acquitted. In 2021, 589 cases were registered, with 14 convicted and 134 acquitted.

Low U'khand tiger count due to 'poor photos'

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

ON World Tiger Day on July 29, Uttarakahnd's position slipped to third in the countrywide count of the big cat, contrary to expectations that the state would stand second, sources said.

State government officials after analysing the data released on the occasion realised that around 15 tigers could not be included in the final count. "Otherwise the results would have been different," said an official, adding that it was clearly the negligence of the forest department staff.

Sources in the Forest Department said: "In the Status of Tigers Predator and Prey India-2022 report, 15 tigers in three forest divisions of Uttarakhand were not included in the count due to lack of 'adequate number of camera traps and some poor photographs.'

"This is the reason that the number of tigers in the state remained at 560, forcing the state at number three in the tiger counter across the country."

Speaking to this newspaper, Chief Wildlife Warden Dr Sameer Sinha said: "There is no such misconception about tiger count. I have also spoken to Wildlife Institute of India (WII) officials who have justified the tiger census as per standards."

He said there would be a review meeting soon. "Whatever changes (in the counting method) are expected will be made," Sinha said.

The state forest department has realised its "mistake" and, according to the data released on World Tiger Day, Uttarakhand, which was ranked third with a count of 560, should technically have been in second place as the count of 15 tigers could not be included in the final count.

Madhya Pradesh tops the list with 785 tigers, followed by Karnataka with 563 tigers.

"Among the pieces of evidence, camera traps are used to assess tigers' presence," said a senior forest department official.

I-T dept serves notice of ₹7cr to MP school teacher 10 years after her death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

IN what may sound outlandish, a government school female teacher, who passed away in November 2013, has received a demand notice worth over ₹7.55 crore from the Income Tax department in Betul district of Madhya Pradesh.

The demand notice worth ₹7,55,69,028 relates to assessment year 2017-18, pertaining to purchase of scrap worth over ₹4.54 crore using her account/PAN details.

The notice sent to Usha Soni (a teacher in a government school in Betul district's Pathkheda village who died on November 16, 2013) was received by her son and retired forest department employee husband on July 28.

"My mother died after prolonged illness in November 2013, but the notice pertains to assessment year 2017-18. The notice mentions a company, Natural Costing, which is engaged in the business of scrap materials. This notice suggests that my mother's PAN (Permanent Account Number) has been misused, but we had no idea about it before receiving the IT department notice," the dead teacher's son Pawan Soni said. Pawan works in a private company.

The Soni family has subsequently reported the matter to the Betul district police.

In the same Betul district, a man Nitin Jain, who works at a shop selling iron rods (monthly earning ₹5,000 to ₹7,000) has received a demand notice from the IT department worth a staggering ₹1.26 crore. On enquiring about the notice from the IT department, he came to know that a bank account using his details is active in Tamil Nadu's Courtallam town since 2014-15.

Surprisingly, it is not just the dead female teacher or the iron rods shop employee in whose name the demand notices have been sent by the IT department, but more than 40 people in the same tribal-dominated Betul district have reportedly received demand notices from the department, for sums ranging between ₹1 crore and ₹10 crore.

According to Betul district police superintendent Siddharth Chaudhary, two complaints, alleging misuse of PAN details, have been received so far. "We have initiated a detailed probe and are trying to get more details from the IT department about those two matters," Chaudhary said.

According to informed sources, it is not just lower middle class individuals in Betul, but similar individuals in other districts of MP, including Rewa, Khandwa and Bhind too, who have received similar notices from IT department for sums running into crores of rupees.

PAN card fraud

More than 40 people in the same tribal dominated Betul district, have received demand notices from the IT Department for sums ranging from `1 crore to `10 crore. These developments suggest that PAN details of economically weak have been misused to open bank accounts in the name of companies outside MP.

Caste-based survey in Bihar perfectly valid, says Patna High Court

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

IN a major relief to the Nitish Kumar-led Bihar government, the Patna High Court on Tuesday dismissed a batch of pleas challenging the caste-based survey in the state.

A bench of Chief Justice K Vinod Chandran and justice Partha Sarthy upheld the state government's action as "perfectly valid, initiated with due competence, with the legitimate aim of providing development with justice".

The order came less than three months after the court had stayed the survey saying it was in fact a census that only the Centre can carry out. The petitioners said they will challenge it in the Supreme Court.

The court held that the actual survey has "neither exercised nor contemplated any coercion" to divulge details and, hence, has not violated the rights of privacy.

The two-member bench also observed that the "vigorous challenge" raised against the caste survey on multiple grounds reveals that "despite attempts to efface it from the social fabric, caste remains a reality, and refuses to be swept aside, wished away or brushed aside nor does it wither away or disperse into thin air".

The HC order triggered a verbal duel between the ruling grand alliance and the BJP. RJD chief Lalu Prasad hailed the order saying it would pave the way for economic prosperity of the downtrodden, while deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav said it will provide authentic data to take corrective steps to help the backward.

JD(U) leader Vijay Kumar Choudhary said the HC ruling 'exposed' the BJP. For his part, BJP leader Vijay Kumar Sinha said his party was never opposed to the survey.

CRISIS IN NIGER DEEPENS AS COUNTRIES PLAN EVACUATION

NIAMEY

FRANCE and Italy prepared on Tuesday to fly out their citizens and other Europeans from Niger, six days after a coup toppled one of the last pro-Western leaders in the Sahel.

In the region's third military takeover, President Mohamed Bazoum was overthrown by his own guard, triggering alarm in France, Niger's former colonial power and traditional ally.

After hostile crowds gathered on Sunday outside the French embassy and Niger accused France of plotting to intervene militarily, Paris said on Tuesday it would withdraw citizens and offered to evacuate other Europeans as well.

"In the face of a deteriorating security situation in Niamey and taking advantage of the relative calm in Niamey, an operation of evacuation by air is being prepared," the embassy told French citizens. The evacuations "will take place very soon in a very limited span of time," it added. The evacuation was announced by France's embassy in an email sent to French nationals in Niamey. The message said the evacuation would be an airlift and that the spouses and children of French nationals were also eligible. It asked to pack one small bag per person and to also take water, a bit of food, phones and batteries.

Spain's Defence Ministry announced preparations to evacuate more than 70 nationals The German ministry urged "all German nationals" to take up the French evacuation offer. It said that fewer than 100 German civilians were believed to be in Niger. In Rome, the government said it was putting on a "special flight" for Italians wishing to leave the country. Around 90 Italians are in Niamey, out of nearly 500 across the country. A first French plane later took off for Niamey, said a French source involved in the operation. Agencies

July GST revenue up 11% to ₹1.65L cr

This is for third time monthly collection crossed ₹1.65L cr, for fifth time crossed ₹1.6L cr

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE GST collection in July surpassed ₹1.65 lakh crore, registering an 11% year-on-year growth.

This is for the third time that monthly goods and services tax (GST) collection has crossed ₹1.65 lakh crore mark and for the fifth time it has crossed ₹1.6 lakh crore. In the first four months of the current financial year, the average monthly GST collection has been ₹1.67 lakh crore. Experts feel if central government has to achieve the CGST collection target of ₹8.1 lakh crore, the monthly collection has to be around ₹1.65 lakh crore for the rest of the eight months.

GST collections

Jan	₹1.57 lakh cr
Feb	₹1.49 lakh cr
Mar	₹1.60 lakh cr
Apr	₹1.87 lakh cr
May	₹1.57 lakh cr
Jun	₹1.61 lakh cr
Jul	₹1.65 lakh cr

(GST figures for CY2023)

The monthly GST collection includes both Centre as well as states' share. After settling collections made under integrated GST (IGST) – levied on interstate transactions of goods and services as well as on imports -- the Centre received ₹69,558 crore, and states received ₹70,811 crore.

In July, the revenues from domestic transactions including import of services were 15% higher than the revenues from these sources during the same month last year.

"The continued growth in GST collections with ₹1.6 lakh crore and above being the norm brings a substantial cheer. With the approaching festive season, this cheer is expected to only increase," says Abhishek Jain, partner, and national head, Indirect Tax, KPMG in India.

Large states like Punjab, Haryana, Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Karnataka, and Tamil Nadu registered double-digit revenue growth. Delhi's GST revenue grew by 25% on-year at ₹5,405 crore, while Uttar Pradesh recorded a 24% surge at ₹8,802 crore. Maharashtra reported an 18% jump in revenue collection at ₹26,024 crore, Karnataka saw a 17% growth at ₹11,505 crore and Tamil Nadu's revenue grew 19% at ₹10,022 crore GST revenue. Gujarat grew by only 7% in July to ₹9787 crore.

Meanwhile, the government has made e-invoicing mandatory from August 1, 2023, for traders with an annual turnover of ₹5 crore or above from 2017-18 onwards. Earlier, it was applicable for traders with a yearly turnover of Rs 10 crore and above.

GST Council virtual meeting on August 2

NEW DELHI: The GST Council will meet virtually on August 2 to deliberate on controversial 28% tax on online gaming, casinos and horse racing. The online gaming industry expressed its discontentment after the government levied 28% on full face value of a gaming transaction. ENS

Byju's sends legal notice to Aakash founders over share swap deal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

EDTECH firm Byju's parent Think and Learn has reportedly sent a legal notice to tuition chain Aakash Educational Services' founders due to their alleged resistance to complete a share swap.

According to reports, private equity firm Blackstone and the Chaudhry family (both minority shareholders) have declined to swap their equity holding in Aakash with Think and Learn.

Byju's acquired Aakash for about $950 million in a cash and stock deal in 2021. Recently, two independent directors of Aakash Educational Services have resigned from the board. When asked about the legal notice, Byju's declined to comment.

While Byju Raveendran owns 27% in Aakash, Think & Learn owns 43% and the rest has been owned collectively by Chaudhry and Blackstone.

It is said that the share swap was an integral part of the acquisition agreement. Meanwhile, various reports said that Manipal Group's chairman Ranjan Pai is in talks to buy a stake in Aakash. This will be a part of the equity round that edtech firm Byju's has been planning to raise.

In case, if Pai invests in Aakash, this will be crucial for the edtech firm as it is in a legal tussle with its lenders over $1.2 billion term loan B. Recently, Byju's said Aakash's revenue is on track to reach ₹4,000 crore.

In June this year, the edtech major announced that it will launch the IPO of Aakash mid next year. The upcoming IPO will provide a significant capital infusion to bolster Aakash's infrastructure, broaden its reach, and extend high-quality test-prep education to a larger number of students across the nation, Byju's said. Since acquisition, Aakash has clocked a three-fold increase in revenue in the last two years. Aakash, the 35-year-old company, is one of the most successful test prep companies for engineering and medical entrance exams, with over 325 centres currently serving more than 400,000 students across the country.

ASIA

SHARES RISE ON WALL STREET RALLY

Asian markets mostly traded in the green on Tuesday, boosted by optimism set off by a Wall Street rally despite lingering worries about inflation and regional growth. Japan's Nikkei 225 surged 0.92% to 33,476.58 and Australia's S&P/ASX 200 gained nearly 0.54% to 7,450.70. South Korea's Kospi rose 1.3% to 2,667.03, while Hong Kong's Hang Seng fell 0.34% to 20,011.12 and the Shanghai Composite remained flat at 3,290.95. On the Wall Street positive trend is seen on Monday, with the S&P 500 adding 6.73 points, or 0.1%, to 4,588.96 to cap its fifth straight month of gains. The index is at a 16-month high after rallying on hopes cooling inflation will mean the economy can avoid a long-predicted recession.

SRI LANKA

INFLATION FALLS TO SINGLE-DIGIT LEVEL IN JULY

Sri Lanka, which has been going through an economic crisis, has seen fall in inflation to single digit, as per Colombo Consumer Price Index (CCPI) data. Inflation level fell to 6.3% in July, easing from 12% in June. The fall in headline inflation is mainly as a result of the high statistical base effect stemming from last year and the sharp decline in non-food inflation. The country's food inflation in July was -1.4% as against 4.1% in June, while non-food inflation was at 10.5% as compared to 16.2% in June. The country's core inflation in July was at 6.1%. The country has been facing worst economic crisis since its independence due to insufficient foreign reserves.

CHINA

PLEDGES FINANCING SUPPORT FOR SMALL FIRMS

Amid weak economic recovery, the Chinese government and the central government on Tuesday pledged more financing support to small businesses. This suggests urgency among policymakers to revive the private sector amid a flagging economic recovery. According to a joint statement issued by the ministries and the central bank, financial institutions will offer targeted and diversified financial support to some small and medium-sized enterprises in the manufacturing sector. The statement said small and medium-sized enterprises will also be offered certain facilities for foreign exchange hedging. Earlier on Tuesday, China extended loan support tools for small businesses until the end of 2024.

Auto sales growth witnesses slowdown in July 2023

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AUTO sales witnessed a slowdown in July 2023 as top carmakers such as Maruti Suzuki, Hyundai Motor and Tata Motors on Tuesday reported a flat to marginal growth in monthly sales.

In the two-wheeler segment, Hero MotoCorp and Bajaj Auto, reported a sharp dip in monthly dispatches last month.

Country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki sold 152,126 units of passenger vehicles (PV) in the domestic market last month as against 142,850 units in July 2022, a marginal growth of 6.50% year-on-year.

While MSIL's compact and hatchback sales fell sharply from 105,151 units in July 2022 to 76,692 units in July 2023, demand for its utility vehicles, backed by a slew of SUVs launches, nearly tripled from 23,272 units in July 2022 to 62,049 units last month.

India's second and third largest carmakers -- Hyundai Motor (HMIL) and Tata Motors -- however, didn't see any growth in July sales. Hyundai's July 2023 sales stood at 50,701 units while Tata Motors sold 47,628 units in July 2023.

Experts had earlier cited that the passenger vehicle (PV) industry's wholesale volume growth may grow at just 3% in July owing to fewer takers for smaller cars and consumers waiting for the festive season to make ticket purchases.

Demand for SUVs, however, remained strong as Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M)'s PV dispatches rose 29% to 36,205 units and Toyota Kirloskar recorded its highest-ever monthly dispatches to 21,911 units.

In the two-wheeler segment, Bajaj Auto and Hero MotoCorp reported a fall of 14% each in July sales, signalling that the demand is yet to recover. Bajaj sold nearly 1.42 lakh units while Hero MotoCorp's sales stood at 371,204 units. TVS Motor and Royal Enfiled, however, reported growth in sales. TVS Motor's domestic two-wheeler registered a growth of 17% last month to 2,01,942 units while Royal Enfield's monthly dispatches grew by 42% to 66,062 units.

ED raids Pawan Munjal's residence, other locations associated with Hero

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Tuesday conducted search operations at the residence of Hero MotoCorp executive Chairperson Pawan Kant Munjal and other locations associated with the two-wheeler company as part of a money laundering investigation

According to ED officials, the searches were conducted in Delhi and Gurugram apart from that of some linked entities. The raids were launched after the ED registered a case against them under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

Confirming the search operations, Hero MotoCorp said, "Officials from the Enforcement Directorate today visited two of our offices in Delhi and Gurugram and the residence of our Executive Chairman Dr Pawan Munjal. We continue to extend all cooperation to the agency."

The ED search comes from a complaint filed against the 69-year-old billionaire by the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI), an investigative arm of the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC), according to sources.

The ED is said to have also taken into account a Customs department case against Munjal and an executive belonging to a "third party service provider" company that was hired by Hero MotoCorp to accompany and look after the travel and logistics arrangements for the billionaire during a business trip to London in August 2018.

Customs authorities are stated to have apprehended the executive on information from the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF). The CISF had seized foreign currency worth over ₹ 81 lakh in his hand baggage during security checks just before the executive was supposed to take a British Airways flight to London along with Munjal from Delhi international airport on August 20, 2018.

88% of ₹2000 notes return to banks: Reserve Bank

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

NEARLY 88% of ₹2000 banknotes valued at ₹3.14 lakh crore have returned to the banking system, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said on Tuesday.

Out of the total notes returned, about 87% have come back in the form of deposits and the remaining around 13% has been exchanged into other denomination banknotes.

The RBI in may had announced the withdrawal of ₹2,000 currency notes from circulation and gave public time till September 30 to either deposit such notes in accounts or exchange them at banks.

"According to the data received from the banks, the total value of ₹2000 banknotes received back from circulation is ₹3.14 lakh crore up to July 31, 2023. Consequently, ₹2000 banknotes in circulation as at the close of business on July 31 stood at ₹0.42 lakh crore," RBI said in a statement on Tuesday.

₹0.42 lakh crore
Value of ₹2000 notes in circulation as on July 31.

Experts say that the return of ₹2000 notes in the form of deposits will prevent the rates on deposits to go up in the short term.

"The total value ₹2000 notes coming to banks as deposits is around 1.5% of total outstanding deposits of nearly ₹190 lakh crore. Return of ₹2.73 lakh crore as deposits in the banking system will offer a comfortable liquidity for the banks in the short-term. Banks will have lower pressure to raise deposit rates" said Vijay Singh Gour, Lead Analyst – BFSI Research, Care Ratings. "As we expect these deposits to be low cost for banks, it would provide some cushion to their net interest margins which are already under contracting pressure," he added.

The Reserve Bank has urged the public to utilise the next two months to deposit or exchange the ₹2,000 banknotes held with them to avoid any rush in the last few days before September 30.

Crude import from Saudi Arabia falls to multi-yr low

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

INDIA'S crude from Saudi Arabia crude slipped to a multi-year low of 480 kbd (thousand barrel per day) in July 2023, according to energy intelligence firm Vortexa monthly data.

India imported 4.6 mbd crude in July 2023. Meanwhile, India's crude import from Russia posted a record high of 1.9 mbd (million barrels per day) in July 2023, nearly double from its traditional buyers combined from the middle-east. Supplies from others include 891 Kbd from Iraq, 484 Kbd from Saudi Arabia, 290 kdb from UAE, 219 kdb from USA and 298 Kbd from Africa. "India's crude imports have remained robust in July, matching previous months' imports at 4.6mbd. Imports of Saudi Arabia crude, meanwhile, have slipped to a multi-year low of 480kbd last month," said Serena Huang, Vortexa's Head of APAC Analysis.

India, world's third-largest crude importer, has increased its purchases from Russia following the war between Russia and Ukraine in February 2022. Western countries put in sanctions on Russian crude, after that Russia has diversified its export to India and China at discounted rates. Before Russia's invasion of Ukraine, India used to import less than 2% of its total imports from the country. Since October 2022, Russia has been top crude supplier, overtaking Saudi Arabia and Iraq.

6.77 cr ITRs filed till Jul 31; 53.67 lakh first-time filers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

MORE than 6.77 crore income tax returns (ITRs) for assessment year (AY) 2023-24 were filed till July 31, 2023, according to the tax department.

As many as 53.67 lakh ITRs were filed by first time filers till 31 July 2023, the tax department said adding that this is a fair indication of widening of tax base. Out of the 6.77 crore ITRs filed for AY2023-24, 49.18% of ITRs are ITR-1 (3.33 crore), 11.97% are ITR-2 (81.12 lakh), 11.13% are ITR-3 (75.40 lakh), 26.77% are ITR-4 (1.81 crore) and 0.94% are ITR-5 to 7 (6.40 lakh).

Over 46% of these ITRs have been filed using online ITR utility available on e-filing portal and the balance have been filed using offline ITR utilities. The tax department said in a statement during the peak filing period, e-filing portal successfully handled huge traffic providing a seamless experience to taxpayers for filing of ITRs. In July, there were over 32 crore successful logins on the e-filing portal. On 31 July itself, successful logins stood at 2.74 crore. The e-filing portal observed its highest per hour rate of 4,96,559 of ITR filing between 5 pm and 6 pm on July 31, 2023, with highest per second rate of ITR filing of 486 (31-Jul-2023: 16:35:06).

Franklin MF returns ₹27K cr to investors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

FRANKLIN TEMPLETON MUTUAL FUND on Tuesday said it has returned over ₹27,000 crore to unitholders of six shuttered debt schemes till date.

The amount translates to nearly 107.51% of the aggregate reported assets under management value across the six funds as of April 23, 2020, when the fund house announced shutting six debt mutual fund schemes, citing redemption pressures and lack of liquidity in bond market. Only short term income plan has some miniscule assets that have to be liquidated.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE country's newest airline Akasa Air on Tuesday said it has added the 20th aircraft to its fleet, which makes it eligible to start international operations.

Akasa had earlier said that they will work towards starting international operations by the end of 2023. The airline claims it has become the first airline in Asia to add the 737-8-200 variant of the Boeing 737 MAX aircraft to its fleet.

Indian regulations require airlines to have at least 20 aircraft in their fleet to become eligible for international operations and this milestone enables Akasa Air to fly internationally.

Vinay Dube, founder and chief executive officer, at Akasa Air, said, "Going from 0 to 20 aircraft within 12 months is not just an Akasa record but a record that encapsulates the potential of our great country and one for our whole nation to be proud of. I am particularly gratified in the way our airline has grown."

Since launching commercial operations in August 2022, Akasa currently operates over 900 weekly flights with a published network of 35 unique routes connecting 16 Indian cities.

The B737-8-200 aircraft was delivered to the airline at the Boeing's Seattle (USA)facility on July 28, and it arrived in Bengaluru on Tuesday, the release said.

The airline had placed an order of 72 aircraft, which include 23 737-8s and 53 high-capacity 737-8-200 planes, in 2021 ahead of its launch. In June this year, the airline announced it will acquire four more Boeing 737 MAX planes. Currently, Akasa operates more than 900 weekly flights across 16 cities.

BWF rankings: Prannoy moves to 9th, Lakshya jumps to 11th

Star Indian shuttlers HS Prannoy and Lakshya Sen jumped to the ninth and 11th spots respectively in the latest BWF world rankings. Double Olympic medallist PV Sindhu remained static at the 17th spot, while Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty also stayed at the world number 2 position in the latest chart.

DILIP KUMAR CONNECT TO PREVIOUS VISITS, SHAHNAZ TALKS INDIA

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

SHAHNAZ Sheikh has fond memories of India. He still recollects the days when legendary actor Dilip Kumar gave him the nickname 'Magic Man'. He remembers that first visit of 1974 when then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi watched them play. He was waiting for this visit to India and meet his old friends. But destiny would have other plans, at least for now.

There is a cloud of uncertainty hovering over his visit but that could not deter legendary hockey forward and consultant of Pakistan hockey team Sheikh from wishing a summit clash between hosts India and the Green Shirts at the Asian Champions Trophy starting Thursday. Since his first visit to India almost 50 years ago, Shahnaz, a multiple-medallist in the Olympics, World Cup and Asian Games, is looking forward to his trip to the country as it not only brings back pleasant memories from the past but also gives him an opportunity to meet his friends.

"I first came to India for the All Asian Stars matches in 1974. It's always a wonderful experience playing in India. I still remember the then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi watching us play in New Delhi. It was during one of those visits that the late legendary actor Dilip Kumar gave me the moniker of 'Magic Man'," the 74-year-old Shahnaz told this daily.

Even as the Pakistan team reached India via Wagah Border on Tuesday, Shahnaz was not issued a visa till late in the evening. He, however, is optimistic. Incidentally, he last visited India in 2014 as the head coach of the team for the Champions Trophy. The visit turned out to be a bitter-sweet experience for him. While his team reached the final beating the hosts 4-3 in a thrilling semifinal, two of the Pakistan players were banned for making obscene gestures toward Indian spectators after the match.

"The players are given 40 seconds for celebrating a goal. Our boys overdid it. They apparently did it because they claimed even India celebrated their 2014 Asian Games final win in front of their changing room. However, that cannot be the excuse but the international body (FIH) and Hockey India should have shown some leniency towards the players. They could have been reprimanded and allowed to play the final. The ban affected us badly and the celebration after the semifinal meant the spectators went against us and favoured our opponents Germany in the final," reminisced Sheikh.

Germany eventually won the final. That loss still hurts Shahnaz as he incidentally was the coach of the Pakistan team in 1998 when they lost the CT final in front of their home crowd. "After losing the final against the Netherlands, we had the opportunity to win after 16 years in India. Being a coach on both occasions, it mattered a lot to me. But we lost that opportunity," Sheikh said.

Shahnaz informed that former hockey players from across the border are still in touch with each. They have a WhatsApp group named 'Legends'. Speaking on the Pakistan team, Sheikh said the squad comprises 80 per cent youth. "This (Asian Champions Trophy) is for the first time these players will play together as a team. All the teams from Asia are featuring in the tournament so it will be a good exposure for these young boys ahead of the Asian Games, which in turn can help the team secure an Olympic quota," he said. Not fretting over what he had experienced when he last visited the country, Sheikh's message to the fans is clear: "People in India have the sense of hockey. I just want them to enjoy the game and appreciate good hockey," he signed off.

Timing a concern, but coaches feel games necessary for teams

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

COACHES of both the Malaysian and the South Korean teams questioned the wisdom of conducting the Asian Champions Trophy so close to the Asian Games, an Olympic qualifying event. While India coach, Craig Fulton, saw the benefits of getting some game time, he 'understood' where they came from.

"To organise a tournament five weeks before a major event, an Olympic qualifying event, I'm curious to know what's the reason behind it. I am sure some of us know why," was how Arul Selvaraj, Malaysia coach, put it in a pre-tournament press conference on Tuesday. South Korea coach, Seok Kyo Shin, was more blunt. "I don't like this tournament because next month we have the Asian Games," he said.

If nothing, this sort of sentiment neatly captures the 12 years of the men's ACT. It began in 2011 in China, with India beating Pakistan in a shoot-out. It was held yearly in 2012 and 2013 before it was put on ice for three years. It was revived in 2016, a few months after the Olympics. In 2018, it was held a few months before the home World Cup in Bhubaneswar. In 2021, it was held a few months after the Olympics when a mix-and-match India team finished third.

Why did Selvaraj express such strong views against it? "It's just 5 weeks before the Asian Games," he said. "Also it's a hectic tournament with seven matches in 10 days, which is really tough. Normally teams use this period to go on tours where they play two matches and have a break hopefully we look into this and make sure it doesn't happen in the future."

While Fulton understood that point of view, he was of the opinion that more the games, better it is. "We need the games, important we play," he said during a press conference later on Tuesday. "Nice to come to Chennai after a long time. There are positives and negatives. I understand the clash and timing but we need the games."

However, the South African did confess that they will use the tournament as a 'training and preparation phase'. "The main focus is on us," he said. "We have a slightly different group, two new players joining. We have the rest of the guys that came from Spain who would be training alongside the team that plays in the tournament... all our staff and everyone is here. So, we are using this as still a training and preparation phase for the Asian Games."

When Harmanpreet Singh was asked a similar question on getting ready for this tournament two days after playing a tournament in Spain, he opined that the team has never had such a short turnaround time. On Sunday, the men's team played Netherlands in the four-nations invitational. On Thursday, they face China in their opening match. "Back-to-back tournaments, we get some time. One week, two weeks... but suddenly a gap of only four days. It will be difficult and it's also a new turf so players may take time to adjust. It will be difficult but it will be the same for all teams."

The Korea coach also expressed his displeasure in the scheduling which sees them play at 4.00 PM in each of their first three group games. "Our first, second and third matches are 4pm matches.. I don't like that. Only India is playing at 8.30 pm with cooler conditions. I don't understand that. Is it because India is the host? Mixed timings for everyone would have been better.

"Seven matches in 10 days are possible, not a problem, but the problem is it's so close to the Asian Games. If anyone gets injured here, they cannot play in the Asian Games. We have come here with a full team, apart from two injuries."

Gukesh, Praggu begin quest to qualify for Candidates

A whole host of Indians, including the two leaders of the next generation, open campaign in the FIDE World Cup on Wednesday. A look at what's at stake...

R Praggnanandhaa

D Gukesh

What's the tournament format?

An eight-round knockout, with both finalists as well as the third-place winner earning a spot in next year's eight person Candidates event, a qualifier to identify the contender for the next World Championships.

What are Gukesh & Praggu's chances?

Becuase both of them are seeded high, they earned a bye in Rd 1. They will be in action in Rd 2 which will be begin on Wednesday. By ranking, Gukesh is the Indian with the best chance of making it through the latter rounds as he's the eighth seed.

How does a player win a round?

Each round has two Classical time control matches over two days. A person has to win one and at least avoid defeat to go through. If they win one and lose one or draw both, the round enters a third day where the match will be decided by tie-breaks.

DATES JULY 30 TO AUGUST 24

VENUE BAKU

What's at stake: Place in next year's Candidates

TOTAL PRIZE POOL $1.834mn ($110,000 is winner's prize)

Who are some of the other players?

Magnus Carlsen is the top-seed. But the Norwegian has been tight-lipped about the prospect of featuring in next near's Candidates where he to finish in the top three. Hikaru Nakamura, Fabiano Caruana and Ian Nepomniachtchi complete the rest of the top four.

Who are some of the other Indians?

Vidit Gujrathi (20th seed), Arjun Erigaisi (23rd), Nihal Sarin (36th) also earned byes into the second round. A few others are still in action in Rd 1.

Talk to me about Gukesh?

Gukesh isn't just the highest-rated Indian. If the teen enjoys a good tournament, he could well overhaul one of the country's longest standing sporting records; Viswanathan Anand has been India's top-ranked chess player for more than three decades. That could change (right now, Anand has 2754 while Gukesh is on 2750.9).

Treesa-Gayatri in Rd 2 of Australia Open

SYDNEY: Treesa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand progressed to the second round of the Australia Open Super 500 badminton tournament with a straight game win over Canada's Catherine Choi and Josephine Wu on Tuesday. Treesa and Gayatri, who climbed two spots to world number 17 in the latest BWF rankings, registered a 21-16, 21-17 win over world number 29 Canadian pair.

Fabinho also moves to Saudi Arabia

LIVERPOOL: Liverpool lost another midfielder to the emerging Saudi Pro League on Monday when Brazil midfielder Fabinho joined Al-Ittihad, the team where Karim Benzema and N'Golo Kant' now play. Fabinho moved for a reported 40 million pounds ($51.5 million) to end his five-year stay at Liverpool, which he joined from Monaco. His exit comes a week after Jordan Henderson left Liverpool after 12 years to join another Saudi team, Al-Ettifaq.

Lifters Pallavi and Krishna bag silver

GREATER NOIDA: Indian lifters clinched two silver & a bronze in the Asian Youth and Junior Weightlifting Championships on Tuesday. Pallavi Sanapathi, the 64kg junior lifter, clinched silver with a total lift of 196kg (87kg in snatch and 109 in clean & jerk). B Venkata Krishna finished second in men's 73kg youth category with a total lift of 271kg (120+151). Harika Bellana won bronze in youth 59kg with a total lift of 176kg (78+98).

Bumrah is vital for India in WC: Ojha

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

WITH the first ball of the home World Cup merely two months away, Indian team management is looking to add some finishing touches to their squad and approach. Despite missing out on international cricket action since September 2022, Jasprit Bumrah is still vital for India's chances.

Former India international Pragyan Ojha believes the pacer's contribution, especially in the home conditions cannot be overstated. "I think, Bumrah is very important for this Indian setup. And that is why we are discussing his return, even though he has not played for a year," Ojha said in a select media interaction.

Bumrah will mark his return in the T20I series against Ireland starting on 18 August in Dublin. This series will be his first white ball series after missing out on the T20 World Cup in Australia due to a back injury. In the absence of senior players like the captain Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli, the 29-year-old will lead the side in three-match series, which will also include the likes of Ruturaj Gaikwad as his deputy.

Ojha understands the reasons why the selection committee has opted for Bumrah to captain India. "When you look at the squad selected against Ireland, there are a lot of youngsters. The senior-most player usually gets to be the captain. He has been the captain of the Indian side in Test and he loves responsibility. Having that responsibility gets the best out of him," Ojha mentioned.

Ojha has only one concern for Bumrah regarding his match fitness. "The biggest challenge for him would be to get his match fitness. Because it has almost been a year (he last played a T20I in September), that could be a challenge for him. No matter how much fitness you do or net bowling you do, that is completely different from the match fitness. This is where he will be tested." "If he does well and doesn't get any niggles back, that will be a victory for NCA, BCCI and Bumrah himself. With the World Cup in India he has to play because he adds value to the Indian side," Ojha concluded.

North Zone win by 9 wickets

AGENCIES @ Puducherry

NORTH Zone produced a dominating allround display to hand North East Zone a crushing nine-wicket loss in a round-robin match of the Deodhar Trophy here on Tuesday. After bowling out North East Zone for a mere 101 in 32.1 overs, the North Zone team knocked off the target in 12.5 overs, scoring 102 for the loss of one wicket.

Spinner Mayank Markande and pacer Mayank Yadav shared seven wickets between them after North East Zone won the toss and elected to bat. Markande returned with impressive figures of 9.1-1-14-4, while Yadav took 3 for 21. North Zone were jolted early when their opener Shubham Khajuria was run out in the third over for six, but Prabhsimran and Himanshu Rana joined forces to finish the job.

Four half-centuries take India to 351 in decider

AGENCIES @ Trinidad

HALF-CENTURIES by openers Ishan Kishan, Shubman Gill, Sanju Samson and captain Hardik Pandya helped India reach 351 for five in their allotted overs in the decider against West Indies at the Brian Lara Stadium in Trinidad. After the opening blitz from Kishan and Gill, the middle order, led by Sanju Samson came in handy to take India past 300 in ODIs for the first time since January 2023.

Kishan scored 77 off 64 runs, including 11 boundaries as India reached 143 in the 20th over. Once Kishan fell after scoring his third half-century of the three-match series and losing Ruturaj Gaikwad for 8, Gill partnered with Samson to add 69 runs for the third wicket. A late burst from Pandya, despite his slow start, helped India add 104 runs in the final ten overs.

Brief scores: (after first innings): 351 for 5 in 50 overs: (Shubman Gill 85, Ishan Kishan 77).

WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

Lauren scores twice as England rout China 6-1, advance to knockouts

AP @ Sydney

WITH two goals and three assists, Lauren James made a big impact as England advanced to the knockout stage of the Women's World Cup on Tuesday with a 6-1 rout of China.

The Chelsea forward scored her second and third goals of the tournament with two wonderful strikes as the European champions finished atop Group D with three straight wins.

Alessia Russo, Lauren Hemp, substitute Chloe Kelly and Rachel Daly also added goals at Adelaide's Hindmarsh Stadium, and China's Wang Shuang pulled one back from the penalty spot. China's worst-ever loss at the tournament means it failed to advance from the group stage for the first time at a Women's World Cup.

Denmark finished second to England in the group, advancing after a 2-0 win over Haiti.

England next plays Nigeria in the round of 16 on Monday in Brisbane, kicking off three hours before Denmark plays co-host Australia in Sydney.

The Lionesses equaled their biggest-ever World Cup win, matching the margin against Argentina in 2007. England also set a World Cup record by scoring in 16 consecutive games at the tournament. England just had to avoid defeat to be guaranteed a place in the knockout stage after back-to-back wins of Haiti and Denmark.

England's Lauren James (L) & China's Li Mengwen vie for the ball during the Women's World Cup match at Hindmarsh Stadium, Adelaide on Tuesday | AFP

RESULTS: Haiti 0-2 Denmark, China 1-6 England, Portugal 0-0 United States, Vietnam 0-7 Netherlands.

Even with a 100% winning start there had still been questions over England's performances, while a knee injury for Keira Walsh raised concerns about how coach Sarina Wiegman would replace one of her key players. While the loss of Walsh is a setback for England, the emergence of James has made her one of the stars so far in the tournament. After her brilliant winner against Denmark, she narrowly missed a hat trick against China. A VAR ruling deprived her of a goal just before halftime. James was the provider as Alessia Russo got England off to a flying start in the fourth minute. With her first goal of the tournament, Russo controlled James' header and fired low past goalkeeper Zhu Yu. Hemp scored England's second in the 26th, with James the provider again.

BOOSTING REMOTE SENSING WITH MACHINE LEARNING

NIRAD MUDUR

Remote sensing operations from space using satellite imageries is a huge boon to study different domains like agriculture, climatic changes, aerial mapping, weather prediction, disaster management, deforestation and monitoring change in land use, etc. However, the data collected by satellites is down-linked to earth-based stations for analysis before sending out the reports to the respective users. That can be time-consuming.

But all that is set to change, with much promise, among others, to the Indian Space Research Organisation, which has the largest constellation of remote sensing satellites in space.

Researchers from the Department of Computer Science, University of Oxford, England, have trained a machine learning model on board an operational satellite to conduct the analysis itself and issue the ready, analysed data to ground-based stations, ready for operational reference — cutting precious time, besides providing more accurate information.

The researchers have trained the first machine learning programme to play its role from outer space for remote sensing purposes. The team used the ION-SCV 004 satellite, a cubesat deployer and a technology demonstrator developed by the Italian company, D-Orbit, and launched by NASA in January 2022. The researchers had successfully pitched their idea to the mission 'Dashing Through The Stars', which had called for proposals to try out new projects on board the satellite. On being cleared the University of Oxford team uplinked the machine learning code for the remote sensing application programme on to the satellite in the autumn of 2022.

The machine learning model that they developed — RaVAEn — was trained only to look for changes in cloud cover. They compressed large image files in ectors of 128 numbers. During the on-ground training, the model learned to keep the informative parts of cloud cover, but in the next phase it learned how to detect changes in cloud cover, which was done directly on board the satellite.

While machine learning models need several rounds of training using a cluster of linked computers, RaVAEn was able to complete the training on 1,300 images in just one-and-a-half seconds. Besides, the model was able to automatically detect whether a cloud was present or not in around a tenth of a second, which involved encoding and analysing a scene equivalent to an area of about 4.8 x 4.8 km2 area, equivalent to almost 450 football grounds.

Professor Andrew Markham, the project supervisor from the Department of Computer Science, University of Oxford, feels machine learning has a huge potential for improving remote sensing. He was cited on the university website as saying: "The ability to push as much intelligence as possible into satellites will make space-based sensing increasingly autonomous. This would help to overcome the issues with the inherent delays between acquisition and action by allowing the satellite to learn from data onboard. Vít's work serves as an interesting proof-of-principle."

The work was presented on July 21, 2023 at the International Geoscience and Remote Sensing Symposium (IGARSS) conference in Pasadena, California, USA.

The researchers now plan to develop more advanced models to automatically differentiate between conditions pertaining to likely flooding, defrestation, natural disasters, changes in leaf colours determining specific factors, among others. There is also a plan to develop more advanced models that are capable of handling much more complex data to even combat climate change and detection of leaks of harmful gases.

HOW THEY DID IT

- Researchers uplinked a machine learning code for remote sensing application programme on to the ION-SCV 004 satellite late in 2022.
- They compresses the large image files into vectors of 128 numbers
- During training phase, the model, RaVAEn, learned to keep only the informative values about cloud cover in this vector
- It detected differences in cloud cover changes in the next phase.

WHAT IS THE NEXT PLAN

- The team intends to develop more advanced models that can automatically differentiate factors to determine flooding, fires, and deforestation, leaf colour changes across seasons.
- They are planning advanced models for more complex data, including images from hyperspectral satellites, aiming to detect leak of harmful gases like methane and for combatting climate change.

DANCE OF AI

BIG CONCERN: GPT-3 BETTER THAN HUMAN STUDENTS?

A new finding has fuelled fresh concerns about the way artificial intelligence is growing, and whether it would threaten humans in future. A research team at University of California Los Angeles (UCLA) published in Nature Human Behaviour has shown that the artificial intelligence language model GPT-3, when put to intelligence tests comprising reasoning problems and standardised tests, performed just as well as undergraduate students who were given the same kind of tests. Having found that, the research team has raised questions on whether GPT-3 has learnt how to mimic human reasoning, and whether it was a new cognitive process, or just a byproduct of its huge language learning dataset. The problem that faces the UCLA researchers, as much as anyone else concerned with the rise in reasoning skills supported by artificial intelligence, is that they are unsure how the reasoning abilities of GPT-3 work without access to its inner workings that are guarded by OpenAI, which is the company that created it. However, what has foxed them is that while GPT-3 excels in some tasks compared to humans, it still falls short while attempting some others. But that does not lessen the concerns considering the flashes of excellence demonstrated by GPT-3, threatening to overshadow human capabilities. The team put GPT-3 through a test that asked to predict the next image through a maze of shapes placed in a complicated manner. They raised the challenge by converting the images into a text format for GPT-3 to "see" the images, which ensured that the AI language model was not familiar with the questions prior to the test. GPT-3 scored 80% compared to 60% by the UG students, but also made similar mistakes as the students, which raised suspicions about GPT-3's cognitive performance being on the same lines as the human mind. Moreover, even in the standardized tests, GPT-3 performed better than the average score of the students.

There is much anticipation around the possible cage fight between tech giants Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg. Even so, the banter around the battle has aroused a lot of curiosity among Bengalureans about Brazilian jiu-jitsu, which also happens to be a favourite fitness routine among many B-town stars

FIGHT CLUB

ELON Musk and Mark Zuckerberg hit headlines when the former invited Zuckerberg for a cage fight (a form of mixed martial arts). While Musk has trained in various martial arts – judo, Kyokushin karate and taekwondo as a child, he recently trained briefly in Brazilian jiu-jitsu (BJJ). And recently, too, Zuckerberg uploaded a picture of him getting a blue belt in BJJ, creating a lot of anticipation among their followers that the 'cage fight' is for real.

One might wonder how this 'Battle of the Billionaires' has any link to Bengaluru. Well... the course of events has brought about much curiosity among people about martial arts, especially jiu-jitsu. For example, Hridya Mariam-George went into a rabbit hole of researching jiu-jitsu before finally enrolling for it. "I wanted to learn a form of martial art for self-defence. While I was confused about what I could pick, I came across many jiu-jitsu videos and started reading about it. It's been a life-changing experience since the time I started learning it. I am self-aware and feel much better," says Mariam-George, an HR professional.

Tom Hardy, Guy Ritchie, Jason Statham, and Nicolas Cage are just some names from Hollywood who practice BJJ. In Bollywood, actors like Ali Fazal, Vidyut Jammwal, and Prateik Babbar were also practitioners of this martial art form. Vinayak Shetty, founder of the martial art studio The Dojo, points it out to be a great form of fitness activity that also improves mental resilience. "Martial art forms are a tool for self-improvement and help the mind apart from the physical workout. People are excited to learn these traditional methods and find they make great strides in their overall form and fighting skills. Jiu jitsu as the name translates is the 'gentle' art where underlying technique bridges size and physical strength discrepancies," explains Shetty, adding that all the top UFC athletes achieved success through such holistic cross-training.

Uma Maheshwar Reddy started practising jujutsu 10 years ago for self-defence and quickly fell in love with the sport. He took his passion for this sport very seriously. Currently, in New York City at the Marcelo Garcia Academy, he is preparing for the Asian Games this year. He mentions that both Brazilian and Japanese jiu-jitsu are not very fundamentally different. "Japanese jujutsu was a form of grappling developed by the Samurai clan for self-defence. BJJ evolved from Japanese jujutsu and judo when Mitsuyo Maeda introduced the arts to Carlos Gracie and Helio Gracie who are known as the founders of modern BJJ. The ultimate goal of BJJ is to finish an opponent via a choke or joint lock, which can be traced back to the original days of Japanese jujutsu," explains Reddy. He adds, "Though the fight is not confirmed yet and might be a witty banter between the two tech superstars, their potential fight is much-awaited in the grappling community as it can help bring more interest and people to the sport."

BJJ is also popular for its many competitions. Ashwin Naidu, founder of The School of Martial Arts, says, "It's easier and softer to learn since you are not actually hitting someone. However, BJJ has gained popularity owing to many sporting events. It is also used in Mixed Martial Arts. With three months of proper practice someone can be out there playing the game," he says.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Chickpet is one of the oldest shopping streets in Bengaluru with a history of existence since the founding of the city in 1537. It is believed that Shivaji's father Shahji had his palace built in Chickpet and named it 'Gauri Mahal' when he ruled Bengaluru in the 17th century. Minto Ophthalmic Hospital also had its humble beginning in a small clinic in Chickpet in 1896. Today, the street remains popular for its textile and silk saree showrooms. Name the other primary commercial road (earlier known as 'Doddapete') formed at the same time which intersects Chickpet at a cardinal junction.

2. While Chickpet is one of the oldest shopping streets in the pete (old city) area, Commercial Street is the earliest shopping lane in the Cantonment area and remains one of the upscale shopping destinations in the city even today. The street draws its name from the city of London where a prime commercial lane is named as 'Commercial Street'. Since late 20th century, Commercial Street has grown extremely fashionable while having its busy commercial feel. Name the well-known jewellery showroom located in the street which served both the British and the Mysore royal house.

3. While some of the prime landmarks in the city is named after Mahatma Gandhi, including the upscale MG Road, Gandhinagar, Gandhi Bhavan etc., a shopping hub in south Bengaluru too is named as 'Gandhi Bazar' after Gandhi's visit to the area to inaugurate a mass lunch served by the traders in 1934. Name the area (one of the earliest extensions of Bengaluru) in which 'Gandhi Bazar' is located.

Capturing Ethos

TUNIR BISWAS

JYOTI Bhatt has lived many lives. He has lived the life of a modernist artist, the life of a printmaker and one of a photographer. In all three aspects, Bhatt has captured the ethos of his peers, of himself and as well as the evolving psyche of independent India. The man has been garnered with many accolades including the Padma Shri in 2019. Notable elements from Bhatt's repertoire is being displayed in an exhibition titled Jyoti Bhatt: Time & Time Again, curated by Nathaniel Gaskell at the Museum of Art & Photography till August 27. In the exhibition, they portray Bhatt's experiments with the art of a self-portrait, how he captured his mentors and peers, and also shows his transition from work in monochrome to colour pop art.

Snippets from the exhibition 'Jyoti Bhatt: Time & Time Again', held at the Museum of Art & Photography, showcases the artist-photographer's work. Exhibits range from his self-portraits, his shoots in monochrome to his colour pop art | VINOD KUMAR T

BOOK NOOK

Assassin

FIT BIT

PRASARITA BALASANA VARIATION HEAD UP
(WIDE CHILD POSE VARIATION HEAD UP)

It's a beginner-level forward bend stretch pose resembling a rabbit and can be used to understand the positioning of the shoulders and arms, and is similar to the Salamba Bhujangasana (Sphinx Pose).

STEPS

- Sit in Vajrasana, and take few breaths here.
- Align your buttocks on the heels and slowly widen the legs.
- Inhale, and widen the distance between your knees and thighs. Exhale and watch the knee movement.
- Place the toes together and open the heels out completely, and slowly place the sit bones on the heels.
- Inhale, and stretch the arms above your head, and exhale, bringing it forward, followed by bending downwards, reaching the floor with your forearms.
- Placing the forearms down, touch the elbows and outer knees, keeping the elbow perpendicular to the shoulder. and your arms in an 'L' shape.
- Breathe, and keep the shoulders rolled away from the ears and chest. Align the head in a neutral position with the neck engaged, gazing ahead.
- Start breathing slow, and pushing the abdomen towards the thighs, watch the lower spine expand and contract.
- Exhale, and expand the torso, along with focusing on your breathing.
- Making sure the knees and ankles are comfortable, stay in this position for about 12 breaths or more.
- To release, slowly come back to Vajrasana.

BENEFITS

- Holding the ankles in between the legs stretches the wrists and forearms.
- Helps in aligning the hips and sit bones towards the heels.
- Backside of the upper torso is expanded with the concave alignment of the back.
- Breath awareness is essential here to gauge the comfort to stay as per capacity.
- Prevents the practitioners from holding the pose in rapid suffocation.
- Helps to align the buttocks on the heels.
- Lock of the palms on the ankles is a bandha and creates room for the spinal extension.
- Allows practitioners to keep the buttocks from touching the heels.

LIMITATIONS

People with injuries in the wrist, fingers, ankles, shoulder, and have undergone surgery on joints of the knees, shoulder, ankles, or wrists, and ones with asthma, heart ailments, or any chest congestion, avoid.

THE MANY INCARNATIONS OF TWITTER

AMIDST the plethora of news that swept past us last week, it was reported that Elon Musk has let go of the Twitter bird - 'Larry' - as their logo, and adopted a new name – X.com. Since my first taste of the Internet in the late '90s, I have seen it evolve into a number of things. Google bought Motorola and Microsoft bought Nokia, hoping for miraculous transformations. But for the richest man on the planet to buy off a website that has nothing to do with his income – is difficult to wrap my head around. I have to contemplate my decision to step outside to buy groceries for an hour or two. I can't imagine Musk thinking – 'I send rockets to space, I develop electric cars. You know what? I'm going to buy Twitter next!'.

Elon Musk enjoys the reputation of being a modern-day disruptor, akin to Iron Man in the movies. In the older days, billionaires appeared to be simple and humble. They dressed in plain shirts and glasses, spoke about eradicating hunger and malaria, and looked like your building secretary. The same isn't true for modern billionaires. They are entrepreneurs and brand ambassadors rolled into one. New age billionaires are digital heroes. They appear on podcasts, run their own channels, and give out life advice to the youth of the world.

The day he bought Twitter, Elon Musk walked into the office carrying a sink, one assumes to 'let it sink in' that he had made the purchase. A few changes were announced, heads began to roll. Musk wanted to transform an elephant into a cheetah – by downsizing and focusing on advertising. His latest move is to re-christen the site as X.com, which further accentuates his obsession with the letter 'X'. After SpaceX, he also named his child XAE12 – the only name in the world that can also serve as a roll number! Also, X.com resembles a site that parents would want their children to stay away from, and one assumes is already on the 'blocked' list of numerous engineering colleges.

But just when Twitter was at its weakest, it faced its greatest attack in the form of Mark Zuckerberg. 'Threads' was announced to counter Twitter. This must have ruffled some silicon feathers in Silicon Valley, as Elon Musk announced that he wouldn't mind taking on Zuckerberg in a mixed-martial-arts bout! Indian billionaires are not allowed such indulgences. Our billionaires appear on the news for their philanthropic activities, and people who like to live their lives king size are rebuked. But Zuckerberg was then seen competing in martial arts matches.

As a student of commerce in what seems like a past life, I used to look up to these billionaires as grounded, stoic people who focused on world problems. Billionaires wrote books and gave speeches at convocation ceremonies. Perhaps it is unfair to expect today's uber-rich to behave in the same manner. They are businessmen and brand representatives rolled into one. Their opinions on politics and society influence their business and market caps. Also, having millions of people latch onto your every word must be a dopamine boost equal to none. Today's billionaires appear to be nerds with clouds full of money, trying to relive their childhoods. Elon Musk buying Twitter is not very different from me purchasing a tabla because I didn't get to play it as a child. In India, we are asked to focus on our studies for the first 22 years of our lives, after which we can 'full enjoy'. Billionaires in the US seem to have gotten a whiff of our parents' advice!

A conversation with Mrinal Pande on her new book of a Delhi girl tracing the decline of India's musical gharanas and the intimacy between artistes and listeners of yore

FOR THE RECORD

P.K.S: PARVEEN NEGI

PARAMITA GHOSH

CAN you retrieve lost history if you chase it? Vidya Tripathi, the Delhi girl and the sutradhar of writer Mrinal Pande's recently translated Hindi novel, Sahela Re (HarperCollins), was going to try. Vidya's quest to seek out the sights, smells, gossip and insights of pre-Independence India's musical gharanas and uncover the reasons for their decline is for a book. It mirrors Pande's search – a trained musician in Hindustani classical music herself – to understand the "great fracture in Indian society" from the 19th century, after the 1857 rebellion ending the dominance of the Mughal Durbar and Delhi's hold on the arts, sending it to live, or breathe its last, in the music rooms of north India's small principalities.

"I began my formal music training under my first guru Dipali Nag of the Agra gharana in my thirties, standing at a cusp when this culture was all but gone," says Pande. In the early 2000s, as the first woman chairperson of Prasar Bharati, she was also privy to the stories and the plight of musicians jockeying for a position in government-administered cultural institutions for survival. "Sahela Re is an attempt to record the last cry of a lost aesthetics, art form, a way of life," she says.

The epistolary novel captures the nomadic flow of life of women performers such as Hira Bai and her daughter Anjali Bai of Benaras and Husna Bai and her daughter Allarakhi of Sherkothi close to Rampur. "Today, people say, 'we go home after work and forget it all', but for these women, their art form couldn't be taken off as one does a ghungroo. Their lovers, ustaads, children, patronage networks, all moved with them," says Pande who knew artistes Begum Akhtar, Kishori Amonkar and Naina Devi. In the novel, the shared confidences between singers and their closed circle, bound by unspoken codes and etiquette, carries the whiff of Pande's personal encounters. "Nainaji once taught me seven bandishes in a day. When I said that I had come to her just to learn a few she said 'Take now what I am still able to give....' If you had limited knowledge of their music, you could be shown the door."

> When I think of Vidya's journey, I imagine her among Pompei's ruins trying to piece together gaps in memory with broken mirrors
> Mrinal Pande, writer

As Pande's protagonist travels around mofussils and cities and pries open closed doors to collect material for her book — old letters, photographs, records — she is a crusader for a lost cause. But there is no giving up. Vidya is the daughter of an upper-class north-Indian father. His orthodox views about women's participation in private mehfils or public concerts, whether as artiste or audience, denied her mother a career; all of this makes Vidya's search for artistes of a disappearing world deeply personal. She regrets the place Bollywood music and Punjabi pop have in independent India and that technology is "destroying" the ecosystem of the old world by "liberalising" the borders of traditional music — these are also Pande's own concerns.

"What Vidya is really after is to gauge how much of the old music is still left in the country. When I think of Vidya's journey, I imagine her among Pompei's ruins trying to piece together gaps in history and memory with broken mirrors," explains the writer. Some of Pande's short stories such as Bibbo have passing references to music. For the first time, in Sahela Re, she has created a world in which the link between an artiste's personal history and the production and circulation of her music and legacy are explored. The novel also considers those who practise the art of survival — Amaal, Husna Bai's great-granddaughter, for instance, is part of a fusion group that performs in Brooklyn's pubs—but passes no judgment.

Pande writes most of her fiction in Hindi. Sahela Re translated by Priyanka Sarkar in English, is also a memorium to lost languages. "The Hindi I grew up with used to be laced with Urdu, Awadhi, Braj Bhasha. The Hindi spoken now is linear and bureaucratic. It reminds me of what Kishoriji (Amonkar) told me once, of a dagger piercing her heart if she had to listen to even a single unmusical note," she says. With Sahela Re, Pande has pulled off a rare book that is unsentimental even as it marked by pain.

Nirup Bhandari

Nirup Bhandari to portray younger Siddaramaiah in Leader Ramaiah biopic?

With the casting buzz doing the rounds, the name of Rangitaranga hero, among a few other actors, has been doing the rounds

A SHARADHAA

We recently reported on the making of a biopic of the current Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, which will be directed by Sathya Ratnam and will be released in two parts. Titled Leader Ramaiah, the makers are keen to have Vijay Sethupathi play a crucial role in the second part, and they are willing to wait for his date availability.

As the director is working on finalising the lead cast, sources reveal that Rangitaranga hero Nirup Bhandari is one of the actors being considered to portray the younger version of Siddaramaiah. The initial conversations have taken place with Nirup Bhandari, and an official announcement is expected to be out once the details are ironed out.

The biopic will have music by Shashank Seshagiri, and cinematography by Uday Leela. With shooting scheduled to commence this month, the project has piqued curiosity about the rest of the cast in Leader Ramaiah.

Meanwhile, Nirup Bhandari, who was last seen in Anup Bhandari's Vikrant Rona starring Sudeep, is also part of Nagathihalli Chandrashekar's upcoming film, which is currently being shot. The team has already begun shooting and completed some portions in Bengaluru, with plans to head to the USA next. Along with Nirup, the yet-to-be-titled film has Shanvi Srivatsav and Pruthvi Ambaar as part of the principal cast.

A still from the film

I owe a lot to Kichcha Sudeep: Rajeev

The makers of Usire Usire, who are gearing up for release have just unveiled the first song of the movie

CE FEATURES

Bigg Boss-fame Rajeev's Usire Usire is gearing up for release, and the makers have just unveiled the first song of the movie. The pathos number, titled Usire Nanna Usire, is written by K Kalyan, sung by Vasuki Vaibhav, and composed by Vivek Chakraborty.

Explaining the reasoning behind choosing a pathos number as the first song, the makers revealed, "We deliberately released this song first, as it holds the entire story's emotions and essence. Listening to it carefully will truly immerse the audience in the world of our film."

Rajeev, brimming with excitement, said, "I owe a lot to Kichcha Sudeep, who not only provided unwavering support but has also portrayed a crucial character in the movie. His impactful performance in the climax is something to eagerly anticipate." Rajeev, along with producer Pradeep Yadav, took the opportunity to extend heartfelt gratitude to Sudeep and the entire team for their dedication and hard work.

The film is now in the post-production phase, and the filmmakers are gearing up for a grand release in September.

Alongside Rajeev, the movie stars Sreejitha as the female lead. Moreover, the film features renowned Telugu actors Dr Ali and Brahmanandam, along with Devaraj, Sadhukokila, and Manju Pavagada.

Film: Farha

NAMRATA JOSHI

Darin J Sallam's debut feature Farha defies expectations. It's a pertinent film to turn to, given the pervading debate on gender in the wake of Greta Gerwig's Barbie. But gradually through its 90-minute length Sallam's film alters into something more—a piece of tragic and violent history of a nation and its people, a survival drama, and a coming-of-age tale, all rolled into one.

Set in Palestine in 1948, it is inspired by the real-life story of young Radiyyeh. We see her in the beginning as the titular character Farha frolicking with her friends amid nature, picking figs, reading a novel by Shaima Hassan and arguing with the priest about why there isn't a school for girls, just like there is one for boys. When asked what's more for a woman to learn other than the Quran, she is quick to respond: Geography, History, Math, English. "Stubborn" is a word people constantly use to describe her.

Farha unfolds as an engaging drama about this rebel with a cause, a headstrong girl, fighting for her rights in a conservative world. She doesn't know how to cook. Even as her best friend Fareeda dreams of the sheep and trees of the village, Farha longs for the backpack, pens, and books in the city school. Her perceptive uncle convinces her mayor father that she is too young to be married off and should pursue studies instead. "Knowledge in youth becomes wisdom in age," he argues.

Even as she gets permission to complete her studies in the city and calls out her friend in jubilation for a party, the intimations of approaching misfortunes are all around her. The young ones who are defiant against the foreign troops, train with their imaginary guns. We hear incessant, urgent chatter about protecting the village. We see shadowy rebels, the local militia, lurking stealthily in the night, warning that the calls for a truce are mere illusions for Palestinians.

It sets up a larger event within which to locate Farha/Raddiyeh and the future course of her life. That of the Nakba, also known as the Palestinian Catastrophe, that led to the destruction of the Homeland, the persecution and displacement of the Palestinians. The reverberations of the violence and the exodus have only grown stronger over time. In fact, the filmmaker's own family had fled Palestine for Jordan in 1948 and Sallam lays it bare straight and simple.

As calls for the safety of women and children rise under siege, Farha's father hides her in the pantry, promising to return for her. Alone in the darkness with the sounds of bombs and gunshots outside, her tenacity is tested. Will the tough nut survive the cataclysm? As she hopes against hope, the film reaches the tension of a survival drama. The young protagonist witnesses the harrowing depths of inhumanity. While death stalks a newborn and an innocent family faces untold horrors and brutality, Farha grows up, silently witnessing the violent slice of history through the cracks in the door and the little shaft on the wall.

Kamar Taher as Farha effortlessly incites our care and concern while making us admire her strength in adversity. The Jordon-Sweden-Saudi Arabia co-production that opened at the Toronto International Film Festival gets intensely moving and progressively suffocating and ends on a note of boundless loss, despair, anguish, and hopelessness.

Farha is a film where personal becomes political and political is assiduously personal. Sallam makes a strong statement. However, she is steadfast in communicating a lot by saying very little.
